35 AEROPLANES DROP 171 BOMBS ON GERMAN POSITION

Allied Squadron's Attack in Eastern France Starts Several Fires at Station.

ALL MACHINES RETURN

Raid Made in 40-Mile Wind—
Germans Capture Cabaret
Rouge on Road to Arras.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, July 12.—Thirty-five allied aeroplanes, in a 40-mile wind, today, dropped 171 bombs on a German supply depot in Eastern France. The attack started several fires in the ammunition stores and the machines all returned safely despite a violent cannonade. The official statement concerning this and other operations says:

"An aerial squadron of 35 aeroplanes ascended this morning in spite of a wind blowing 40 miles an hour, and bombarded the railroad station strategically established by the Germans at Vignoulles-Jés-Hattonchateau. This station served the region of the Calonne trenches and that of the Forest of Apremont. Very important stores of every kind and particularly ammunition were concentrated there. Our aviators dropped upon these objectives 171 bombs of 50 kilograms (110 pounds) each. The bombardment started several fires. All our machines returned although they had been violently cannonaded.

"Fighting at the 'Jabrynth.'
"In front of our positions at the 'Jabrynth' a German attack was attempted last night, under the protection of a violent curtain of fire. The assailants were decimated and completely thrown back upon their lines.

"There was a combat with hand grenades and cannonading in the Forest of Apremont in the region of Regneville and in the Forest of Le Pretre. In the Vosges an attempted attack by the Germans was directed at a bridge head occupied by us on the east bank of the Meuse River at Sodernach, and was repulsed."

Another statement given out by the War Office, concerning the bombardment of Arras, says:

"Apert Palace Destroyed.
"On June 27 the bombardment was extremely violent and was executed by six-inch, eight-inch and 17-inch guns, between the hours of 5 a. m. and 2 p. m. and between 6 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The fire was directed particularly at the cathedral and neighboring streets. On July 3, towards 4:30 o'clock in the evening, a further bombardment took place, in which incendiary shells were used, and they started a most violent fire."

"On July 6 at 4:30 p. m., the statement continued, 'the enemy recommenced its bombardment of the city, concentrating its fire upon the environs of the cathedral, more especially upon St. Vaast, the ancient bishop's palace, which had been transformed into a museum. Incendiary shells hit the building on fire and the use of fuses shells from three-inch and four-inch guns prevented our organizing to combat the fire, which soon assumed great proportions and completely destroyed the palace. During the night there was an intermittent bombardment."

"On July 6, about 7 a. m., shells fell on the cathedral, the roof of which took fire, and despite the efforts of our troops, was entirely consumed, as were the cathedral organs."

"The departmental archives, which had been deposited in the Palace of St. Vaast, had been placed in the cellar of the palace before the bombardment and were saved. The sacred ornaments and part of the furnishings in the cathedral were removed."

Germans Take Cabaret Rouge on Road to Arras.

BERLIN, via London, July 12.—The German army headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"French hand grenade attack at the sugar refinery of Bouches was repulsed. In connection with the storm attack on the cemetery our positions were pushed forward across the cemetery over a width of 600 yards and the Cabaret Rouge, on the road to Arras, also was captured. The number of prisoners has increased to three officers and 250 men. Several attempted enemy counter attacks were subjected to our fire and their execution thereby was prevented. Between the Meuse and the Moselle, the enemy developed lively artillery activity. He attacked our positions in the forest of Le Pretre four times in the course of the evening and night. The attacks broke down under our fire with heavy losses in front of our lines."

"The situation in the Eastern and Southeastern theaters of the war remains unchanged."

BRITISH AIRMEN WOULD 'WIN WAR' WITH 10,000 CRAFT

LONDON, July 12.—English aeronautical men today launched a movement for the creation of a ministry of aviation and the building of a fleet of 10,000 aeroplanes to deluge German ammunition works and supply routes with bombs.

L. Dunn Bebbel, lecturer in aeronautics at the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich, real leader of the campaign, is supported by H. G. Wells.

DR. FLINT CHARGES THAT THAW TRIES TO HYPNOTIZE HIM

"He Has Stared at Me for 15 Minutes," Asserts Alienist on the Stand.

PRISONER DENIES IT

Insanity Expert Abandons "Constitutional Inferiority With Paranoid Trend."

NEW YORK, July 12.—Dr. Austin Flint, the first of the State's alienists to testify in the sanity trial of Harry K. Thaw, was still under cross-examination by Thaw's counsel today.

John B. Stanchfield, chief counsel for Thaw, closely questioned Dr. Flint today, apparently with the idea of showing, if possible, that he was mistaken yesterday when he declared that "constitutional inferiority with a paranoid trend," which he described Thaw as having, was a designation adopted by the medical profession within the last two years. A report of a hospital of whose board Dr. Flint is a member, showed that the institution recognized the term as early as 1908 and that further "constitutional inferiority" was a distinct form of insanity. The report, which was read to the jury, stated that 18 out of 21 patients suffering from "constitutional inferiority" recovered.

"Constitutional inferiority," Dr. Flint said he was willing to drop the paranoid trend and the constitutional inferiority qualifications in his diagnosis of Thaw and call him a pure paranoid.

Why he thought Thaw a paranoid was told at length by Dr. Flint. Thaw's family history, his boyhood, his alleged delusions, his will, his general appearance and his belief that William T. Jerome and Dr. Flint were in a conspiracy to keep him in Matteawan, all influenced his opinion.

While under cross-examination, Dr. Flint suddenly asserted: "Thaw has stared at me for 15 minutes, and I think he did it for the purpose of hypnotizing me."

Justice Hendrick looked at the witness for a few moments and then asked if he really thought Thaw was trying to hypnotize him.

"I certainly do," Dr. Flint replied emphatically.

Thaw leaned over and whispering to the newspaper men disclaimed intent to hypnotize the witness.

The State had one or more other alienists ready to testify before the evidence in rebuttal should begin. Counsel for both sides hoped that the case would be in the hands of the jury by tomorrow. Meantime, Thaw spends most of his time while in court selecting the route for the automobile trip which he hopes to take to the Panama-Pacific Exposition if he gets free.

When Dr. Flint was testifying yesterday, Stanchfield contended that Thaw has been testimony to show that Thaw lived a normal life in New Hampshire after his escape from Matteawan. Dr. Flint declared this was not inconsistent with his theory that Thaw was a paranoid.

Answering Judge Hendrick's inquiry how a layman could determine whether Thaw was a paranoid, the witness thought the layman would have to make his choice "between whose alienist he would believe."

"Has Thaw shown here in court any evidence of paranoia," Stanchfield asked. "I don't think he has," Dr. Flint stated. "Only to me he does not act like a sane man."

Dr. Flint went on to explain that he did not think Thaw ever was a "persecuted paranoid," but declared he had delusions of persecution. In this disease, he added, the delusions change from year to year no indications while he was on the stand in this trial.

Stanchfield asked, "No indication that would be evident from what he said," the witness replied.

BEVERLY STEVENS IS CONVICTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

Clayton Realty Dealer Sentenced to Three Years by Judge at St. Charles.

WAS HIS THIRD TRIAL

Released on Appeal Bond of $3000 Which Is Furnished by Sister.

Beverly C. Stevens, a Clayton real estate operator, was found guilty of forgery in the third degree in the Circuit Court at St. Charles today and was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary. The trial was on one of many indictments returned against him after grand juries at Clayton and St. Charles began an investigation of his affairs last autumn.

Stevens' trial at St. Charles was the third time he had faced a jury within two months and resulted in his second conviction. A jury in Judge Cave's court in St. Louis, on May 18, found him guilty of embezzlement from a client and sentenced him to three years in prison. The next day, on May 19, another charge of embezzlement against him collapsed and a nolle proes was entered.

Judge Woolfolk pronounced sentence upon Stevens after motions for a new trial and an arrest of judgment had been overruled. He was released upon a $3000 appeal bond signed by his sister, Mrs. Jennie E. Higgins of 442 Morgan street.

In this case Stevens was accused of forging the names of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kelpes to a promissory note for $2000. The note came into possession of Dr. William Steinlauf, who had given Stevens $5000 to invest for him in 1903 and who had received a note on a farm owned by the Kelpes. This farm had formerly been part of the old Stevens homestead in St. Louis County, where Stevens was reared.

Received Interest Regularly.
Dr. Steinlauf, according to the testimony, had received his interest regularly from Stevens. About a year ago he wished to see his money. He received part of it in cash and the supposed Kelpes note.

In the meantime the Kelpes had sold the farm to J. H. Ficke, who had assumed all obligations against the place. When the $2000 note was presented, Ficke denied responsibility for it. The Kelpes both took the stand at the trial and declared the signatures to the note were forgeries.

Only one witness was put on the stand for the defense. He was a man who testified that he knew the Kelpes once save Stevens a note.

It was generally known that Stevens was to go to trial in St. Charles yesterday, and only a few persons were in the courtroom. The jury was out only about 30 minutes.

He Receives Sentence.
When Stevens was called up to receive his sentence, he stood impassively before the bench, never lifting his eyes to the Judge's face. He seemed more careworn than usual, and his hair was grayer about the temples than yesterday, and only a few persons were in the courtroom. The jury was out only about 30 minutes.

He was released on appeal bond of $3000 which is furnished by his sister, Mrs. Jennie E. Higgins of 442 Morgan street.

HOW $7000 PUT IN DEPOSIT BOX CAME OUT SIX POTATOES

Little Rock Man Tricked by Man and Woman, but They Are Caught by Slip of Paper.

HOPE OF SAVING $4500

Clew to Drafts Bought Here Found in Secret Pocket of Woman's Purse.

A small slip of paper with two numbers written on it, found in a woman's purse in New Orleans, furnished the clew on which it was discovered yesterday that $4500 of the $7000 loot of a man and woman swindler had been paid into two St. Louis banks. The money was used for the purchase of New York exchange, June 24, last, the day after a swindling game had been worked on Louis Repetti, a wealthy fruit dealer at Little Rock, Ark.

Deputy Sheriff J. J. Hawkins is in St. Louis trying to recover the money. The man and woman, known as Ralph Ricci and Mrs. Eliza Pluso, came here after working the swindle and obtained a $2500 exchange draft from the National Bank of Commerce and one for $2000 from the Third National Bank.

Couple Are in Arkansas Jail.
Ricci and Mrs. Pluso are in the Little Rock Jail. They were traced through St. Louis by Hawkins and were arrested in New Orleans.

At the time of the arrest a small handbag was found in the woman's room. In this Hawkins discovered a secret pocket in which were a diamond ring and a small slip of paper, on which were the numbers 1258346 and 1178371.

The woman became so excited when she learned the paper had been found that Hawkins was convinced the numbers would furnish the clew to Repetti's money. Knowing they had been in St. Louis he came here and visited several banks, trying to find the numbers on bank records.

It was found that the middle six figures in each number correspond with the numbers in the exchange drafts addressed here in the names of Bartolomeo and Mrs. Eliza Pluso, June 24. The figures at either end of the numbers apparently had been added as a blind. So far as the National Bank of Commerce and the Third National Bank have been advised the exchange drafts have never been cashed in New York, Hawkins says. He thinks the money can be recovered from the banks here and payment on the drafts can be stopped.

Were Expensive Jewels.
Two Frenchmen, prosperous Italians calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ricci made their appearance in Little Rock about a month ago. They soon became acquainted with wealthy Louis Repetti, who was a man of means and expensive jewels and the man made a lavish display of money. They said they were in Little Rock to buy real estate. Repetti was one of those with whom they had been acquainted.

They told Repetti they had decided to purchase property which would cost $11,000, but they only had $4,500 with them. They asked if he would advance $7000 to enable them to bind the bargain until they could send to New York for the money, when they would repay him.

Repetti agreed to advance the money. They met in the apartment of the "Ricci." There Repetti was introduced to a stranger, known to him only as "John."

It was agreed that the Riccis' $4,500 and Repetti's $7000 should be put in a tin box, which should be placed in a safe deposit vault in Repetti's name. The tin box was produced and the money was put in it.

About this time the stranger, John, seemed suddenly overcome with grief. He began telling of the sad death of his father. His mother, who was weeping, then told him that Repetti was a tin box was substituted for the one with the money in it. Repetti and the Riccis went to a bank and put the box in a vault. That night the man and woman disappeared, leaving a note for Repetti. It read: "Don't worry—smile."

Repetti opened the tin box in the safe deposit vault the next day. It contained six large potatoes wrapped in tissue paper.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT
JUNE 16 DIES OF INJURIES

Mrs. Margarette Stemmler Was Thrown Under Radiator When Machine Hit Lamp Post.

Mrs. Margarette Stemmler, 40 years old, of 2355 Olive avenue, died at her home yesterday of injuries received in an automobile accident, June 18. On that day Mrs. Stemmler's daughter, Theresa, 23 years old, and her fiance, Arthur F. Hemminghaus, 25, of 245 Adams street, drove about the city hunting a flat. Mrs. Stemmler and her son, Raymond, 14, accompanied them. On the return, Hemminghaus, in an effort to avoid a collision with another auto at Florissant avenue and Angelica street, ran into a lamp post and overturned his car.

Mrs. Stemmler was buried under the radiator and scalded. Her daughter's skull was fractured and Hemminghaus was injured. The mother and daughter were taken to the city hospital, and later, when it appeared they were recovering, were sent home. Mrs. Stemmler suffered a relapse Sunday and Hemminghaus has now been postponed twice.

Defendants on Hand.
A telephone message from Quitman, Mo., to the Attorney-General, announced that Mrs. Porter had left there in an automobile at daybreak. She was accompanied by Anderson and W. W. Fullman, an attorney who first investigated the murder charge.

The four defendants were on hand at the office of the Justice before the time set for the hearing. Huntman was accompanied by two grown sons, while the other three were alone.

WOMAN CAUSES DELAY IN IOWA MURDER HEARING

Mrs. Porter, State's Chief Witness in Alleged Crime of 1868, Fails to Arrive.

By Associated Press.
BEDFORD, Ia., July 12.—The failure of Mrs. Maria Collins Porter, the State's chief witness, to arrive here, resulted in a delay of the hearing of four men held in connection with the murder of Nathaniel Smith, the Missouri hearing in September, 1868. The hearing was postponed until 7 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Porter is said to be on the way across country from Hopkins, Mo., and is supposed to have been cut off by floods.

Crowds gathered for the preliminary hearing of the aged men charged with the murder of Smith, who, with his son, was killed in September, 1868. A witness scene following the alleged murder.

Civil Suit Led to Arrests.
Other witnesses here include Samuel Anderson. Anderson's plans for a civil suit against the defendants to recover a fourth interest in $20,000 treasure, said to have been buried near Slam, furnished one of the clews leading to the arrest of the four aged men.

The defendants in the case are Bates Huntsman, Samuel Scrivner, John and Henry Damewood.

Bedford is without railroad service from any direction, the Sunday night storm and floods having destroyed bridges on all sides. Attorney-General George Cossens and State Detective G. A. Brunson reached here late last night. After a seven-hour automobile trip. At least 150 farmers had succeeded in getting into the city before the time for the hearing, having forced many streams and defied endless mud to satisfy their curiosity regarding what is generally called by residents here "the time novel case." It seemed as if the entire population of the city had turned out to hear the proceedings.

A telephone message from Quitman, Mo., to the Attorney-General, announced that Mrs. Porter had left there in an automobile at daybreak. She was accompanied by Anderson and W. W. Fullman, an attorney who first investigated the murder charge.

PRESIDENT, IN SECLUSION, WORKS ON HIS REJOINER

Leaves Orders That He Is Not to Be Disturbed While He Studies German Reply—Does Not Regard Situation as Critical.

Expected to Have Policy Mapped Out Before He Returns to Washington This Week or Next.

Determined to Uphold Dignity of United States in Communication Telling What U. S. Intends to Do.

By Associated Press.
CORNISH, N. H., July 12.—President Wilson devoted his attention today to a detailed study of the situation growing out of the receipt of the latest German note on submarine warfare. After a game of golf he retired to his study with the official text of the note before him. The President gave directions that he be left undisturbed.

No plans were made this morning for President Wilson's return to Washington and there was every indication that he intended remaining here several days longer. By the time he returns it is expected he will have the next step in the American policy mapped out in a general way.

It became known today, after President Wilson had read the official text of the German reply, that he does not look upon the situation as critical, but that at the same time he is not inclined to underestimate the possibilities of the problem presented to him, and is determined firmly to uphold the dignity of the United States.

The President instructed Secretary Lansing to prepare a memorandum on the diplomatic problems involved. He will not send a rejoinder until he has conferred with the Secretary of State.

It was said there was no present plan for Mr. Lansing to come to Cornish to confer with the President, and that the President will not hurry back to Washington until the next plans are returned to

BRITISH MONITORS DESTROY GERMAN CRUISER IN AFRICA

Koenigsberg, Which Took Refuge in Jungle Last October, Wrecked in Two Attacks.

TEN MEN LOST BY ENGLISH

Air Craft Help to Find Position of Warship, Which Fires Five Guns Accurately.

LONDON, July 12.—The Admiralty announces that the German cruiser Koenigsberg, which in the fall of last year took refuge from the British fleet in the Rufiji River in German East Africa, has been wrecked by British river monitors. The British casualties were four men killed and six wounded.

The Koenigsberg, a vessel of 264 tons, had a speed of 23 knots. She was a protected cruiser.

The announcement of the Admiralty follows: "Since the end of last October the Koenigsberg had been sheltering some distance up the Rufiji River in a position which rendered attack against her difficult, only shallow draught ships being able to get sufficiently close to engage the cruiser effectively.

"Two months ago the Admiralty decided to send two river monitors, the Severn, Capt. Eric Pullerton, and the Mersey, Commander Robert A. Wilson, to assist the Commander in Chief of the Cape station, Vice Admiral H. King Hall, in these operations.

"The position of the Koenigsberg was accurately located by aircraft and as soon as the monitors were ready the operations were begun. On the morning of July 4 the monitors entered the river and opened fire to which the Koenigsberg replied immediately, firing salvoes with five guns with accuracy and rapidity. The Mersey was hit twice and four men were killed and four wounded by one shell.

"As the Koenigsberg was surrounded by a jungle, the aeroplanes experienced great difficulty in locating the fall of our shot. She was hit five times early in the action, but after the monitors had fired for six hours, the aeroplanes reported that the Koenigsberg's masts were still standing.

"A salvo then burst on her and she caught fire heavily between her masts. She continued to fire with one gun intermittently for a while, but for the remainder of the engagement she did not fire at all, either on account of lack of ammunition or the disablement of her guns. Although not totally destroyed as a result of this engagement, she probably was incapacitated.

"To complete the destruction of the Koenigsberg the Commander in Chief ordered a further attack on July 11, and a telegram now has been received stating that the ship is a total wreck. In this last engagement our casualties were only two men wounded on the Mersey."

WOMAN AND HER SON ARRESTED FOR KILLING MAN IN CRAPS GAME

Rock Thrown in a Fight at Jerome Struck Jugular Vein and Caused Death.

ROLLA, Mo., July 12.—Claude Woods and his mother, Mrs. Woods, were arrested and brought to Rolla yesterday charged with the killing of J. P. Woolsey Jr., in a fight which took place at Jerome, Mo., Sunday. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Woolsey had been killed by a rock thrown by Claude Woods and implicated Mrs. Woods in the killing.

It was testified before the coroner's jury that Woolsey, "Ted," Woods and several others were playing "craps" Sunday. Woolsey and Woods got into a fight which resulted in Woods getting the worst of it. Mrs. Woods went to where the fight was, and upbraided Woolsey. Later, her son, Claude, arrived on the scene, and he and Woolsey came to blows. It was testified that Mrs. Woods struck Woolsey with a rock, and that Claude Woods threw a rock, striking Woolsey on the jugular vein and killing him.

Woolsey was about 33 years old, and had a wife and four children. "Ted" Woolsey is about 25 years of age, and Claude Woods is just past 21 years old. Woolsey was a son of J. P. Woolsey of Jerome, and a brother-in-law of J. W. Grayson, County Assessor.

VOTE FRAUD CHARGE DISMISSED

No Evidence Against Man Who Was Held in Jail Eight Months.

A charge of fraudulent voting in the last November election against Raoul Hennault was dismissed in Judge Fishler's Court yesterday by Circuit Attorney Harvey, who stated there was no evidence against him which could be tried. He has been in jail since his arrest. Hennault was a roomer in William Barth's house at 124 North Third St., said by the police to have been a "mush-room hotel." He was used as a witness before the grand jury against Barth, who was later acquitted. He refused to testify against Barth at the trial and repudiated an alleged confession. The Circuit Attorney said there was no evidence against him except the confession.

THIS map shows the topography of the region between Arras and La Bessee, where the French, for more than two months, have been tearing at the German lines in the hope of advancing, first to Lens and afterward to Lille, Douai and Cambrai. The present battle region is shown by the heavy black line. The stormiest spots of this region at present are along the road from Aix-Noulette to Souchez, and around Souchez itself. This road runs through a deep ravine, called the Fond de Buval.

The famous sugar refinery of Souchez, which was taken and retaken nearly a score of times before the French finally secured it, is shown just west of the village. The numbers on the crest of the hill of Notre-Dame de Lorette just north of Souchez, mark the successive German redoubts which the French stormed one after the other while south of Neuville St. Vaast is shown the famous Labyrinth, now in French hands. The French now hold the high ground practically along this whole line, the Lorette Hill, 500 feet high, being the loftiest point for many miles.

relatives of the three other prisoners were also present. The Attorney-General said that in causing the arrest of the four men without grand jury action Bullman had acted contrary to his advice. The Attorney-General said that the State, of course, would take up the prosecution hearing he did not intend to play the if the men are held, but that at the part of prosecuting officer. Huntman's case will be first heard, each defendant having asked a separate hearing. The crowd numbering 700 was too large for the Justice's room and the hearing will be held in the large courtroom.

TELLS OF 4 OTHER OLD IOWA CRIMES

Mrs. Margaret J. Pease of Des Moines Says Gang Killed Men Before 1868.

DES MOINES, Io., July 13.—At least four other men were killed by the Taylor County outlaws in a few years prior to the killing of Nathaniel Smith, the cattleman, and his son, in 1868. In connection with which four old men are to be in court at Bedford, Io., today, according to a statement of Mrs. Margaret J. Pease, a milliner here.

She said her father, William Hedrick, a stock breeder, and three other men, named Collins, Cole and Harmon, were killed by outlaws in the vicinity of Bedford in the fall of 1865. As was later the case with Smith, Hedrick's young son, was with him. The boy was not killed, but was returned to his home at Westboro. He was George Hedrick, in later life a locomotive engineer on Western railroads, and last heard from about five years ago in Hawaii.

Mrs. Pease said she was positive there was no connection between the killing of her father and that of Smith, though some of the same outlaws might have had a hand in both crimes.

Her father had $5000. "My father had between $500 and $10,000 on his person," said Mrs. Pease. "The other men had considerable money and the four of them must have had $15,000."

"I was 5 years old at the time, and while I do not remember much of the murder, I have a distinct recollection of some of the incidents that followed the murder.

PREMIER BORDEN SAYS CANADA REGARDS THE WAR AS HER OWN

"I Have No Fear of the Future Though the Struggle May Be Long," He Declares.

LONDON, July 12.—"Four days before the war broke out, I telegraphed to the Imperial Government that if there were war, Canada would regard it as her own," Sir Robert L. Borden, the Premier of Canada, told a cheering audience at a luncheon given in the House of Commons in his honor this afternoon.

The Canadian Premier declared that the resources of the British empire were abundant for all purposes.

"I have no fear for the future, though the struggle may be long," Sir Robert said.

A. Bonar Law, British Minister of the Colonies, in a toast to "Canada and the War," expressed the hope that one result of the upheaval would be the welding of the empire in unbreakable bonds.

SLAYER OF CELLMATE TO DIE

Governor Denies Appeal of Convict Who Killed Man in Jail.

JOLIET, Ill., July 12.—Frank Repetto, condemned to die next Friday morning for the slaying of Charles Masters, his cellmate and fellow member of a Chicago burglar gang, was told this morning that Gov. Deneen had last night denied a last appeal for a third stay of sentence.

"Fine," said Repetto. "I was sure of it. I'll go to my new suit." Repetto stabbed Masters to death Sept. 17, 1914, in the convict's dining hall of the State penitentiary here.

Thirtieth time in Police Court. Walter Monroe, who said he had no permanent address, was a defendant in Police Court this morning for the thirtieth time in three years. He was arrested on a charge of intoxication. Judge Hogan assessed a fine of $10, the maximum.

BRYAN EXPLAINS WHAT HE THINKS IS 'NEEDLESS RISK'

It Is Entering War Zone on Belligerent Ship, or on Neutral Ship Carrying Ammunition.

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., July 12.—William J. Bryan, former Secretary of State, who is spending a brief vacation here with his son, issued a statement today in explanation of what he meant by the term "unnecessary risk," contained in his comment in connection with the last German note. He said: "Any traveler takes an unnecessary risk when he goes into the war zone on a belligerent ship, knowing that it is subject to attack by submarines. A traveler also takes unnecessary risk when he rides on a neutral ship carrying ammunition."

"I believe that our Government would be justified in separating passengers from ammunition, but until this is done American travelers would be justified in refusing to take passage on belligerent ships or a neutral ship carrying ammunition."

"If patriotism requires a man to risk his life for his country when his country is engaged in war, it would seem to be patriotic for a citizen to avoid risks that might involve his country in war."

Germany Continuing Dilatory Methods, Says Buenos Aires Paper.

BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—La Nacion, commenting on Germany's reply, says: "The German note is not such as could give satisfaction to the American Government and American public opinion."

The note reveals a design to continue the political dilatory methods so dear to German diplomacy, which has not yet replied to the Chilean demand respecting the violation of neutrality by the Dresden.

"The United States Government does not concern itself with the reasons for the German methods, but with the methods themselves."

C. E. FRENCH BANK EXAMINER

Reserve Bank Cashier Appointed as Chief for St. Louis District.

CLIFFORD E. French, cashier of the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis, yesterday was appointed chief bank examiner of the St. Louis Federal Reserve District, by Comptroller John Skelton Williams in Washington.

Until a year ago, French for nine years had been examiner for the St. Louis Clearing House, and before that was a national bank examiner.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives the latest news gathered by the Associated Press.

GOEBEN'S BIG SHELLS FAILED TO BURST; TURK CHARGE, ENDED IN DISASTER

Sultan's Forces Were Mowed Down, With Great Loss and Allies Gained Half a Mile at Achi Baba, Says Correspondent.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 12.—The Chronicle correspondent with the Dardanelles expedition sends from Lemnos a description of the fighting of July 6 and 7, which resulted in pushing the Turks back a little more than half a mile on the Dardanelles, or French wing of the battle line on Gallipoli peninsula, and brought the allies' lines closer around the hill of Achi Baba, which has been fortified until, the correspondent says, "it may now be described, without exaggeration, as one of the strongest fortresses in the world."

"The fighting was the heaviest which has taken place on the Gallipoli peninsula since the expedition landed there," he says. "Those who were in the battle place the Turkish casualties at 7000 killed, between 14,000 and 15,000 wounded and many prisoners taken."

"The allies had been resting comparatively quiet and the Turks apparently believed this was due to a shortage of ammunition and decided to make a grand effort to drive their enemies into the sea. It was late Tuesday night when their preparations were detected. The French and British artillery and machine guns were brought forward in readiness."

Burst of Shell Fire.

"The short interval or silence or waiting was suddenly broken by a tremendous burst of shell fire from the Turks, concentrated on the French front, but the men were sheltered in their dugouts and suffered little."

"From the straits came a loud booming as the battered Goeben joined in the fire, throwing about 40 11-inch shells into and around the right of the allied line. These shells, apparently of Turkish manufacture, failed to burst."

"The bombardment, the most severe to which our lines have yet been subjected, lasted just an hour and a half, and then the Turks leaped forward to attack in great solid masses. They were permitted to come on until they were within 60 or 70 yards of the French position, and then met with the blast of 200 well-timed machine guns and 20 6 1/2 inch rifles. The came on with splendid tenacity, but found to their horror that the French barred their way with entanglements still stood, the bombardment failed to cut them away. The ensuing slaughter was terrible, but at three points, by sheer weight of numbers, the allies broke through."

$3,000,000,000 IS RAISED FOR NEW ENGLISH WAR FUND

Chancellor McKenna Says $4,000,000,000 Was Net After Expected Nor Needed.

LONDON, July 12.—The total subscription to the war loan amounted to close on $3,000,000,000, according to the statement made by Reginald McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons today.

The total number of subscribers through the Bank of England was 88,000, whose contributions aggregated $2,550,000,000. The subscriptions through the postoffice have not yet closed, but up to date 847,000 persons have subscribed $5,000,000 through this channel. No figures are available as to the number of small vouchers taken out.

Chancellor McKenna pointed out that the figure of $4,000,000,000, mentioned in the newspapers, neither was expected nor desired by the Government. If that amount had been reached, he said, it would have been necessary to close the list.

ARCHITECTS DREW FIVE PLANS FOR HENRY FORD'S NEW HOME

Then They Were Fined, Their Lawyer Declared in Hearing of Suit Against Manufacturer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., July 12.—Numerous differences that have arisen over the construction of Henry Ford's new $200,000 home at Dearborn were aired today when testimony was taken before Master William Sayer in the Federal Court, in the suit of Von Holst & Fyfe, architects, who are suing Ford for $44,000, following their discharge from the work.

Ford first decided on a $600,000 plan, Attorney J. O. Murfin said, "but when the newspapers talked about a $2,000,000 palace on the banks of the River Rouge, the plans were revised and one calling for an expenditure of about $25,000 was fixed on. This met with objection and again was revised, to provide for an extra expenditure of about $200,000. In all, there were five plans, counsel said, and 533 different plans and sketches, the work filling a steamer trunk and a box about the same size.

Counsel for Ford alleges fraud and collusion and incompetency. Alfred Lucking, representing Ford, said bills for $72,000 were presented for sending the model to the architect's house. He declared Von Holst & Fyfe, being the architects and superintendents, should have known whether the bills were excessive. He said the total cost was to have been $253,000, and with $25,000 as the charge for saving stone and the cost of the rough material, the preparation alone would have cost $200,000.

PRINCE ALBERT

is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed! No other pipe and cigarette tobacco can be like Prince Albert, because no other tobacco can be made like Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and removes the tongue-bite and throat parch! Let that digest!

And that line of conversation is 24 kt., whether you play P. A. in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette.

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the toppy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears? Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Any way you hook it up, Prince Albert is tobacco insurance! Yes, sir, it guarantees your future as well as your present smokings! And just makes your tongue so jimmy pipe joy's that your smoke appetite grows whopping big. You men who "dassn't," we say you go to P. A., natural-like! Because there isn't a bite in a barrel of this national joy smoke.

Unlimber your old jimmy pipe! Dig it out of the dark corner, jam it brimful of P. A. And make fire with a match! Me-o-my!

You get acquainted with Prince Albert the toppy red bag, 5c.; the tidy red tin, 10c.; but for the double-back-action-joy, you buy a crystal glass pound humidor. And then you're set! You see, it has the goosy-mustache top and keeps P. A. at the highest top-notch point of perfection. Prince Albert is also sold in pound and half-pound tin humidors.

The tidy red tin, 10c

CORONER'S JURY BLAMES DRIVER, WHO WAS KILLED

Testimony at Inquest Showed That His Automobile Was Going at High Speed.

A verdict that Monte C. Thorning, 24 years old, of 342 Wyoming street, and Edward Rahand, 27, of 3304 Humphrey street, were killed as a result of Thorning's criminal carelessness in driving an automobile, was returned by a Coroner's jury today.

Thorning and Rahand were fatally injured when an automobile driven by Thorning on the wrong side of the street ran into a street car at Broadway and Salena street.

Testimony showed that the automobile was going at high speed and that the street car was standing still.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS IN GRIEF OVER DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Helen Pearson Was Widow of Lecturer on Air Brakes for Wabash Railroad.

Mrs. Helen Pearson, 42 years old, killed herself with gas in the bathroom at the home of Mrs. Lottie Meyer, 3401 Junata street, yesterday afternoon. She had been despondent since the death of her husband, John J. Pearson, Mar. 27 last.

Pearson was a lecturer on air brakes for the Wabash Railroad. For several years his wife had traveled about the country with him. After his death she went to live with Mrs. Meyer. She frequently had said she was lonely and wished she could follow her husband in death.

Mrs. Pearson was left alone in the house yesterday. At 6 p. m. she was found dead.

On the floor of the bathroom were two sealed and stamped letters addressed to Mrs. William Cooper, 56 Mitchell street, St. Thomas, Canada, and Mrs. C. W. Sherneg, 1302A East Main street, Decatur, Ill. The Pearsons formerly lived in Decatur. Mrs. Pearson's mother, Mrs. Artie Law, lives in Lexington, Ky.

REPORT ON U. S. ARMY POLICY TO BE READY EARLY IN AUGUST

Secretary Garrison and the Board in Charge to Go Over the Work
Next Wednesday Night.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The expectation is that the report of the board of army officers working out a military policy to be submitted to Congress probably will be complete early next month. This will give Secretary Garrison plenty of time to prepare his estimate by October and in time for a special session of Congress, should one be called for that month.

A general review of the work thus far accomplished will be made Wednesday night by the board when Secretary Garrison will be present.

The board is composed of Brig. Gen. Scott, chief of staff; Elias, his associate; Macomb, president of the War College; Crowder, Judge Advocate General, and several officers from the War College.

DIES WHEN SON IS BEING BURIED

Mrs. Esther Margaret Schoppe Was Not Told of His Death.

Mrs. Esther Margaret Schoppe, 53 years old, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles W. O'Neill, 3328 Flad avenue, while the body of her son, Charles A. Schoppe, a traveling salesman, was on its way to burial in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Schoppe had been ill for several weeks, and the death of her son, in Chicago, last Friday, was not made known to her. She was the widow of Charles H. Schoppe, and had two surviving sons, one of whom Henry C. Schoppe, is chief execution deputy in the sheriff's office. Her funeral will be held from St. Margaret's Church tomorrow morning, followed by burial in Calvary.

MOTHER SAYS GIRL ROBBED HER

Daughter Has Escaped 3 Times From House of Detention.

Mrs. Tena Kueble of 213 Buchanan street has asked the police to find her daughter, Florence Weeds, 18 years old. The girl has escaped twice from the city hospital and three times from the House of Detention. Last night, while Mrs. Kueble was absent from home, she told the police, Florence visited the home and after binding her half-sister, Nellie Kueble, 13 years old, to a chair, took a hatchet, broke open a locker and stole $20.

Florence ran away from home several months ago and since that time has been arrested on several occasions for associating with bad companions.

200 Pants Makers Win Wage Raise.

NEW YORK, July 13.—In the strike of 10,000 pantmakers, which, according to labor leaders, may involve thousands of other garment workers, one large firm today reinstated 200 strikers at an advance of $2 a week. The strikers announced that several other offers to arbitrate had been received.

Label Carton Limit Extended.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Department of Agriculture extended until Jan. 1, 1916, the time limit for use of labels and cartons printed before May 11, 1914, which do not state the quantity of the contents offered in packages in terms of largest units, but which otherwise plainly and correctly indicate contents.

The Most Sensational Shirt Sale of the Year!

12,600 Men's New Summer Shirts—Mostly $1.50 and $2.00 Qualities

Choice 90c
Values to $2.00

This sale of 12,600 Men's High-Grade Summer Shirts is one of the most extraordinary events of the kind which Saint Louis, or any other community, has ever known, and the man or young man who fails to profit thereby is overlooking one of the greatest money-saving sales of which we have any knowledge.

These Shirts were secured from one of our leading Saint Louis manufacturers—one whose name stands for quality in manufacturing and who guarantees every shirt that he sells.

As we confidently expect the largest response to this advertisement of any we have ever had, appealing to men, we have provided extra space and plenty of additional salespeople, so that all may be waited upon with reasonable promptness.

French-Cuff Shirts

In this sale you will find a great many Men's French-Cuff Shirts of twilled silks, mercerized crepes with Russian cords, mercerized reps and fine Jacquard woven pongs, in a host of staple and novelty stripes.

Stiff-Cuff Shirts

These are the negligee and pleated styles in both white and colors and are made from high-grade cloths, such as 96x100 percales, finely woven madras and corced madras of superior quality, an exceptionally fine lot.

Soft-Collar Shirts

The Shirts in this lot have soft collars attached and are shown in solid cream, tan, white and plain and fancy woven pongs, Jacquard weaves and self-woven cords. These are particularly desirable for "sport" wear at this season of the year.

AUSTRIA MAKES NEW PROPOSAL TO RUMANIANS

Offers Bukovina for Neutrality and Further Concessions for Military Aid, It Is Said.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, July 13.—Rumania has been given a month in which to accept or reject an offer of territorial compensation for her active military assistance or neutrality, according to the Times Balkan correspondent in a dispatch at Sofia last Saturday.

The correspondent says that on July 8 the Austrian Minister at Bucharest presented a note to the Rumanian Government offering for her friendly neutrality, the cession of Bukovina, with the River Bereth as her northern boundary, together with various concessions to the Rumanian inhabitants in the dual monarchy, including the foundation of a university at Brasov (Kronstadt).

"In consideration for her active military assistance," the correspondent continues, "Rumania would receive the whole of the Rumanian portion of Bukovina to the River Pruth and also an extension of territory along the north bank of the Danube to the Iron Gates, including Mehadia, while Austria-Hungary would undertake to conquer Bessarabia and transfer that province immediately to Rumania as a permanent possession."

"Fulfillment of these conditions was guaranteed by Germany and a month was given for a reply. The note further intimated that the central Powers regarded the right of passage through Rumania territory as necessary. The main difference between the Austrian and Rumanian proposals to Rumania is the substitution of Bessarabia, with a million inhabitants, for Transylvania, with three millions."

The Post's Bucharest correspondent explains that Rumania has been given one month to reply to the Austrian offer, because for that time Germany believes that Turkey will be able to hold out in the Dardanelles, and he adds, Austria and Germany will insist upon this time limit owing to the anxiety caused by the imperative necessity of securing free transport of munitions for Turkey through Rumania.

A Berlin dispatch received by Reuters' Telegram Co. gives the substance of what is described as a thinly veiled threat at Rumania contained in an article in the semi-official Frankfurter Zeitung which under the heading "Rumania's hour of fate," charges that country with holding up war material en route from Germany to Turkey.

The Frankfurter Zeitung claims that under her treaties with the central powers Rumania is bound to adopt a friendly attitude toward them and says, according to the dispatch:

"As Rumania has no present need to fear Russia and does not act upon the American theory which is accepted by the entente powers regarding the export of war material, Rumania's maintenance of prohibition upon transit is dictated by considerations of her own interest, well or ill comprehended. She therefore desires to weaken Turkey and support attacks on the Dardanelles."

Rumania is threatened, the correspondent adds, urges that Rumania has interpreted her duties regarding neutrality in a way directly injurious to Turkey, the ally of the Central Powers, and concludes:

"Germany and Austria-Hungary are now free to decide whether they will or will not consider themselves bound by their agreement with Rumania. Their interests in the further independence of Rumania continue to exist, but we can conceive a case arising, perhaps in the coming peace negotiations, when this interest, in support of which no obligation any longer exists, must take rank behind more important interests of the Central Powers themselves."

The Deutsche Tages Zeitung, a copy of which has been received in Copenhagen, charges the Rumanian Government with shutting its eyes to the transport of munitions to Serbia while refusing to allow Germany and Austria to send anything to Turkey. The article threatens that unless this attitude speedily is changed Rumania will lose the opportunity of maintaining friendly relations with Germany.

Russia Reported to Be Fortifying Her Rumanian Frontier.
BERLIN, via London, July 13.—A dispatch to the Tagessblatt from its correspondent at Czernowitz, Bukovina, says:

"The Russians are fortifying their Rumanian border. Many thousands of men are at work digging trenches parallel with the border and building barbed wire entanglements. The operations are being rushed with all speed."

The Russian Government of Bessarabia borders Rumania on the east. Austria-Hungary is reported to have pledged Rumania to undertake the conquest of Bessarabia and transfer it to the Balkan state in exchange for Rumanian active support in the war. Russia, on the other hand, has attempted to win the support of Rumania for the allies by promising the cession of the Hungarian territory of Transylvania, which borders Rumania on the west.

PARISIAN SAGE

Men and women whose hair and scalp are excessively oily suffer more in the warmer months than at any other time. The summer's dust and dirt mingle with dandruff, cling to the oily hair and scalp, clog the scalp pores, stifle the hair roots and make proper cleansing almost impossible.

Parisian Sage is an ideal treatment for this trouble. Wash the hair no oftener than once a week, but use Parisian Sage twice daily, pouring a little into the parted hair and rubbing briskly right into the scalp with the finger tips. It drives out dandruff, dissolves the excess oil and stimulates the scalp into healthy normal action. Sold by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

U. S. ARMY MEN TO BE RELEASED TO MUNITIONS PLANTS

Garrison Holds That Safety of Country May Depend Upon Development of Factories.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—On the theory that the safety of the country may rest upon the adequate development of its commercial gun and ammunition factories, Secretary Garrison announced today he had decided to accept the resignations of Lieutenant-Colonel Oduis C. Horney and Maj. William A. Phillips of the Army Ordnance Bureau, who have been offered posts with companies producing large munitions contracts from European belligerents.

The resignations have been pending for several weeks while Secretary Garrison asked Attorney-General Gregory for a legal opinion as to his power to hold the officers in the Government service. The Department of Justice has not yet determined the question and meanwhile Garrison decided to act.

Col. Horney is in charge of the Picatinny Arsenal at Dover, N. J., and Maj. Phillips is detailed to ordnance work at the Sandy Hook proving grounds. Secretary Garrison said he considered that less expert officers were fully competent to operate plants at those stations already installed.

The skill of Col. Horney and Maj. Phillips lies in the construction of new plants. The plant they will build, Garrison said, may be of vital importance to the American Government. The Secretary said the situation in England, where extraordinary efforts are being made to increase the output of guns and ammunition showed the necessity of preparing for great emergency in time of peace.

Col. Horney, it is understood, is to go with the Army Powder Co. at a salary of about five times what he received in the army, and in addition he will receive a cash bonus.

DEGREE OF DIVORCE GRANTED TO ADMIRAL COGHLAN'S GRANDNIECE

Edward Marshall Wrote to Wife That He Was on Way From Canada "to Fight Germans."

Mrs. Marie Louise Marshall of 3399 "beauteous avenue" obtained a divorce, on grounds of cruelty, in Judge Rasseleur's court, from Edward Joseph Marshall, who wrote her recently he was leaving Montreal with a Canadian regiment, "to fight the Germans." He is a native of England.

The wife is a daughter of Maj. Philip Coghlan, at whose home she now lives, and a grandniece of the late Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, retired. Her 4-year-old son, Edward Marshall, was awarded to her by the divorce decree. The Marshalls lived in Maplewood.

Mrs. Marshall said her separation from her husband, last February, was due to his active hostility to her religion. She is a Catholic, and she testified that, at the time of their marriage, he took instruction and was received into the church, leaving the Episcopal Church. But after a few months, she said, he abandoned the church, and tried to force her to do the same.

She testified that because of his attitude she stayed away from church two years, but last winter, believing he did not appreciate the sacrifice she was making for him, she resumed churchgoing. Then, she said, he insisted on a separation.

DEATH WATCH ON SPROUSE BEGINS THIS AFTERNOON

Only Gov. Major Can Save Him From Hanging Friday for Wife Murder.

Arrangements for placing the death watch over William Sprouse, under sentence to be hanged in Clayton Friday morning for the murder of his wife last November, were completed this morning. The watch will be placed this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Sheriff Bode has removed all prisoners from the four cells on the south side of the second floor of the jail. Sprouse will have one of the cells for his use and will have access to a corridor 5 by 20 feet, opening off the four cells. Two deputies will remain within the corridor.

Sprouse will be permitted to play cards with his guards. No one else is permitted to see Sprouse except the Rev. Father Stepha. Sheriff Bode and

149 SHIPS TAKE U. S. REGISTRY

Report Made on New Law Admitting Foreign Built Vessels.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Under the new law admitting foreign built vessels to American registry 149 ships with a gross tonnage of 527,071 tons were transferred to the United States flag during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Figures announced today by the Department of Commerce show that of this number 10 formerly were in the British merchant marine, 30 in the German and six in the Belgian. One Italian, three Norwegians and four Cuban ships also were transferred.

ST. LOUIS MEDICAL UNIT IS READY FOR SERVICE IN EUROPE

Includes 32 Physicians Recruited From Various States and 75 Nurses.

Dr. William T. Coughlin of 2715 Washington avenue, a member of the visiting staff of the city hospital, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that at the request of the St. Louis University he had completed the organization of a medical unit of 32 physicians and 75 nurses for service on the European battlefields.

The physicians have been recruited from Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, Illinois and Kentucky and the nurses from the hospitals in St. Louis.

Dr. Coughlin said he had been in communication with the British, French and German Ambassadors in Washington and had been informed that there was no immediate need for the unit, but there would be a call later on. If accepted, surgeons in the unit would have the rank of Major and junior physicians the rank of Lieutenants.

Dr. Coughlin said that he thought there would be no difficulty in organizing two units in St. Louis. He refused to name the St. Louis physicians who he said had joined.

Coca-Cola

and Advertising

SOME people have said that our advertising is good. If that be the case, it is simply because Coca-Cola's own deliciousness has been the inspiration.

Advertising did not "make" Coca-Cola—goodness and deliciousness are its foundation stones and advertising is but the message that carries the news of this deliciousness to every nook and corner of this great country.

Advertising has let people know why Coca-Cola should be popular—but it has been Coca-Cola itself that has proved to all why it is popular.

This is no denial of the part advertising has played in our success—but it is placing credit to advertising where it belongs and credit to quality where it belongs. While we are proud that our advertising has pleased, there is another feature of it that arouses a more serious and earnest pride.

We are proud of our advertising—because it is more than pretty or strong or effective; it is truth-telling advertising. What we say of Coca-Cola in our advertisements is based absolutely on what Coca-Cola is.

And frankly—if the advertising has played the part we think it has in making Coca-Cola known, it is because of this very truthfulness of our printed words.

What has been said has been verified by Coca-Cola itself—always. Such advertising and such a product in combination are certain to produce complete satisfaction in the purchaser's mind. It is this kind of satisfaction that has made people buy Coca-Cola and buy again.

Just one single glass of Coca-Cola will tell you all we mean when we say that advertising has advertised what Coca-Cola has verified. This we call successful advertising.

Our Free Booklet—"The Romance of Coca-Cola" is interesting and attractive—send for it.

Demand the genuine by full name—nicknames encourage substitution.

SANDWICH CHIEF ASSET OF $1,000,000 PROMOTER

"Montgomery Shoe Co. of America" Also Has a Federal Indictment, but Its Chief Spirit Scoffs at That.

George H. Montgomery, 238 Locust street, promoter of the "million dollar" Montgomery Shoe Co. of America, of which he is president, treasurer and general manager as well, following his arrest on a Federal warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today of some of the vicissitudes of trying to sell 100,000 shares of stock in a company without visible, tangible assets.

For nearly six years he had been doing business on hope. At the end of that time he had accumulated a Federal grand jury indictment and a ham sandwich. The sandwich was in his pocket when notice of the indictment was served upon him. It was to have been his lunch at the noon hour where he works, the Eighteenth and Wash streets very well indeed as his noonday lunch as he waited in vain in the United States Marshal's office for somebody to appear and sign his $2500 bond.

"Open Eye" valued at $200,000.

The voluminous indictment charges that of the so-called $1,000,000 paid-up capital of the Montgomery Shoe Co., $400,000 is represented as Montgomery's fee for promotion and $600,000 is represented as the value of a trademark Montgomery designed. The trademark consists of the words "Open-Eye Brand Shoes," the "Eye" in the design being represented by a picture of a human eye.

The Government charges that neither the trademark nor the promotion work is of any ascertainable value.

So far as a Post-Dispatch reporter could learn, the sandwich and the indictment appear to be almost the only solid, substantial things in the whole affair, and Montgomery declares the indictment isn't anything near as businesslike as it looks. There could be no question, however, about the sandwich. It was of the approved design, fairly husky, composed of two generous slices of bread and one generous slice of ham.

The indictment is bulky, consisting of many sheets of typewritten paper. Its principal burden of complaint is that Montgomery advertised stock in his company for sale in the columns of many newspapers, paying for the advertisements a stock share of the company named as the Bonne Terre (Mo.) Star, the Hickory (N. C.) Democrat, the Washington (D. C.) R. F. D. News, and the Cattaraugus (N. Y.) Times.

Advertised 8 Per Cent Dividends.

The advertisements stated that the stock would pay 8 per cent in annual dividends. The articles of incorporation declared that the incorporators expected to establish factories for the manufacture of shoes by a "secret process," together with the needed accessories, such as artesian wells, tanneries, transportation and refrigerating facilities, hotels for employees, etc. So far as the Government investigators have been able to discover, not even a tannery has been built.

Montgomery is a thick set, rather squat man, with a florid face, a large mouth furnished with an excellent and complete set of teeth. His eyes are dark, wide apart, rather "dreamy." His hair is a gray mane, brushed back from his forehead in "Music Master" effect. His left leg is much shorter than the other, but this defect is almost disguised by a curious boot he has designed for himself. This boot, he says, contains the "secret process" to which the articles of incorporation of his company refer.

He explained that his company was incorporated at Huron, S. D., Nov. 30, 1909, and organized Dec. 9, 1909, and declared the Government had been "after it" since March 16, 1910. He pulled a well-thumbed card out of his coat pocket to show that by the laws of South Dakota it was legal to charge promotion fees and credit trade mark up to capital stock.

The stock was divided into 100,000 shares of a face value of $10 a share. He received the many shares for his trade mark and promotion expenses, he said, but immediately retransferred 40,000 shares to the company as "treasury stock," keeping 60 per cent for his ideas and trade mark.

A lot of the stock, he declared, has been sold but not paid for. Two men had put up $100 each, but he himself advanced the rest of the promotion expenses out of his own pockets. The idea of the company, he said, was to do a mail order business in shoes.

Starved Himself for Stamps.

He had made a list of an aggregate of 20,000 names, including those of 10,000 physicians, the persons to be circulated. He paid for the postage and printing out of his wages as a shoe fitter at the Brown shoe plant, and declares he often went for days on extremely short rations that he might buy stamps to interest the doctors in his designs of boots for lame persons.

He said he did not know how much stock had been sold. As for the stock, he said he preferred to be paid that way. Besides, he declared, the advertisements brought him no business.

He said that the secretary of the company is now in New York City, negotiating with persons there for the sale of 10,000 shares. The "domestic office" of the company is at Huron, as required by the South Dakota law. The "executive offices" are in his room on Locust street.

When Montgomery's affairs were being investigated in 1910 he wrote a defense of them to a post-office inspector, in which he set up the argument that it is not physical valuation that counts in all cases, illustrating what he meant by saying that an Atlantic cable built at $10,000,000 would be valueless unless properly operated.

"Enormous value may exist," he said, "without a particle of anything tangible or visible to see at all. It may take the form of good will. Then fact referred to the trade mark of a patent medicine as comprising the chief value of the product as a matter of investment."

Making a Good Impression.

Is self-preservation. Observing men find the merchants' announcements appearing in the Post-Dispatch every Friday keep them informed on what men should wear to be neatly dressed. It is economical, too.

WOMEN TO BLAME FOR HIS TROUBLES, 'COUNT' DECLARES

Van Antwerpen, Who Is Being Taken to Cincinnati, Photographed by St. Louis Police.

"Count" Charles Van Antwerpen, alias "Count" Carl Mueller, stopped off in St. Louis this morning long enough to be photographed and measured for the rogues' gallery. He was in custody of a detective en route from Montgomery City, Mo., to Cincinnati, where he is wanted for stealing a diamond ring.

"Count" Van Antwerpen is well known to the police here, having been arrested for bigamy several years ago. At that time the police counted seven women who had been married to the "Count." One of them was a St. Louis girl, Margaret Mulcahey of Swan avenue. When arrested in Montgomery City he was arranging for a honeymoon, having just married Miss Lena Devault of that place.

Although the "Count" has an engaging personality, he struck the police as absolutely homely. But he calls himself a "ladies' man."

"I'm just a plain fool," he said. "I can't resist the women."

Van Antwerpen served two years in the Milwaukee House of Correction for embezzling $1500, was fined $250 in Kansas City for beating his wife, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at Jefferson City for mistreating his child in St. Louis.

WOMAN'S MARRIAGE TO MAN WHO HAS ANOTHER WIFE ANNULLED

Mrs. Anna Seek Levey Lived With Salesman a Year Before Learning He Was Not Divorced.

An annulment of her marriage to Louis L. Levey, a whisky salesman, was obtained in Judge Anderson's court this morning by Mrs. Anna Seek Levey, an employee in the cloak department of the Grand-Leader, who discovered after living with Levey more than a year that he had another wife from whom he had not been divorced.

Levey and Miss Anna Seek were married by a Justice of the Peace at the Stratford Hotel, Eighth and Pine streets, March 30, 1914, and lived at the hotel until April 30, 1915. That day a man, who said he was the first Mrs. Levey's brother, informed her that Levey was not divorced from his first wife. Mrs. Levey, the second wife, testified in her annulment suit that Levey cried when she asked him about it, and that he admitted it. She said she told him to leave her.

A letter inquiring about the annulment suit, written by Mrs. L. Levey, 23 Fargo avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., who said she was the first wife, also was introduced.

WARRANT ASKED FOR MAN HELD AS FORGER OF CHECKS

St. Louis Merchants Act Against Accused Man Now Under Arrest in Denver.

A representative of the Kammer Clothing Co., Seventh street and Washington avenue, this morning applied for a warrant against G. A. Barnett, who in the past year has obtained $1500 in various parts of the country with bogus checks, according to the American Bankers' Protective Association. He is under arrest in Denver, where numerous forged checks are held against his account.

In St. Louis Barnett represented himself to be C. A. Hadley of Kansas City and posed as brother of former Gov. Herbert Hadley.

The check which Barnett is alleged to have given the Kammer company was for $30 and was drawn on the Corn Exchange of Ringling, Ok. Those institutions, according to the American Bankers' Protective Association, existed only in the mind of the check giver. Barnett purchased $15 worth of merchandise at the store and obtained $15 in cash. That was May 6 last.

HELD ON GIRL'S COMPLAINT

Man Arrested After She Tells of Altered Conduct on Car.

Henry Bruwer, 25 years old, an engraver, of 3701 Hebert street, was arrested this morning at Sixth and Olive streets by a detective who had been searching for him for several days, on complaint of Miss Abbie Freely of 4624 Margaretta avenue, a stenographer for the Columbia Transfer Co., Second and Certe streets. Miss Freely told the police that a man she did not know frequently seated himself beside her on a Natural Bridge car when she was on her way to work and talked offensively to her.

Bruwer was arrested on description as he stepped from a Natural Bridge car.

TWO ARRESTED IN LIQUOR RAID

Policemen Say He Bought Beer From Woman in House on Delmar Boulevard.

Policemen last night raided the house at 412 Delmar boulevard and arrested Mrs. Nellie Smith, a music teacher, 7 years old, and Edward J. Hartman, a draftsman, 26 years old.

A patrolman in plain clothes, accompanied by a woman, called at Mrs. Smith's house shortly before midnight and engaged a room. He ordered two bottles of beer, which, he reports, he purchased from Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith was charged with selling liquor without a license and maintaining an objectionable establishment. Hartman was charged with being an inmate.

TODAY'S BEAUTY SUGGESTIONS

Face powder simply covers up an unattractive complexion and leaves no lasting benefits. Those who have tried a simple spumax face lotion find it much better, as it removes skin discolorations, such as freckles and tan, and makes the skin smooth, white and velvety. This lotion is made by dissolving four ounces of spumax in one-half pint of hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerin. This complexion beautifier does not rub off or show like face powder, and gives a more refined appearance. It removes both shininess and sallowness, rapidly giving the skin a permanent healthy, youthful appearance.

An especially fine shampoo for this weather can be had at trifling expense by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather that dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on a glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem very much heavier than it is. After a canthox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—ADV.

LAWSON ARRAIGNS JUDGE WHEN HE IS DENIED NEW TRIAL

He Charges Former Coal Corporation Attorney Made Case Travesty on Justice.

TRINIDAD, Colo., July 12.—John R. Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, the most prominent of union officials in the conduct of the Colorado coal strike, occupied a cell in the county jail following Judge Granby Hillier's decision denying him a new trial in the case in which he was convicted May 1 of the murder of John Nimmo, a Deputy Sheriff, in a fight near Ludlow Oct. 26, 1913. Lawson was escorted to the jail by the Sheriff and was accompanied by a number of local union officials. "This for me is but the beginning," said Lawson as he entered the jail. "I maintain I have broken no law and committed no crime unless it be that I am a coal miner, honored by my fellow workers with years of faith. My devotion will stand even this, the acid test, for the maintenance of their principles. My experience may help to awaken others to the wrongs in our world calling as definitely today as in time past for a remedy."

In giving his decision, Judge Hillier said that no prejudice of the Sheriff was shown and that the disqualification of the Sheriff would have no effect.

As to the affidavits of the jurors, he said, they had made no statement of facts and did not state positively that the members of the jury had been coerced.

Lawson Reads Statement.

A tense silence prevailed in court when Lawson read a statement in a voice that frequently broke.

"It is plain," said Lawson, "that nothing I can say or do will change your fixed determination to start me down the dark path to imprisonment for life."

"In the name of the courts of my country, which I respect, I protest against your right to pass any judgment on me. It is undeniable in this case that you were appointed to the bench this spring for the trial of myself and my associates. Fresh from the employment of the coal operators of Colorado, including the Rockefellers, who have engineered these persecutions, yourself a coal company attorney, you were so prejudiced against me that my case in this court was travesty on justice. Today the Supreme Court of Colorado, in Denver, is reviewing your conduct."

Lawson charged that he had been the victim of a hand-picked jury. Concluding, Lawson looked up from the type-written page with lips that trembled and said:

"Solemnly facing iron bars and prison walls, I assert my love for justice and my faith in its ultimate triumph—not a justice of theory but of reality, extended to men, women and children whose proper equality of opportunity it embraces."

"You refused to permit the jury to be drawn from the regular jury box provided by law, and you ordered an open venire," said Lawson in the course of his statement. "This method was exactly adapted to procure what none was surprised to discover—a hand-picked jury of coal company partisans. After you had removed the Coroner as a summoning officer, over my protest, you selected your own instruments to pick this jury. And the jury chosen was naturally subject to the self-same coal company influences which with hue and cry now seek to drive me to the penitentiary."

"It matters not that I was utterly guiltless of the charge against me. It matters not that the prosecution was forced to abandon its claim that, on Oct. 26, 1913, I fired a shot or did other than seek to avoid violence which menaced the cause dearest to my heart. It matters not that it became necessary for the prosecution to invoke legal doctrines of conspiracy, which, if applied impartially, would convict the leading coal operators of Colorado and the country of the deaths of men, women and children at Ludlow on April 29, 1914."

"Perhaps this seems immaterial because none of them has been informed against, much less tried, and none of them fears our courts or prosecuting officials."

Convinced by Two Detectives.

"It matters not that the only evidence on which the prosecution was forced to rest was the testimony of two disreputable Baldwin-Pelts detectives, employees of the coal operators' association with which you yourself were formerly professionally associated."

"Nothing was to be permitted to stand in the way and it is significant that even a jury so selected refused to convict me until a ballot selected by you, according to affidavits on file in this court, tortured a jurymen with manufactured reports of the dangerous illness of the juror's wife and as a final stroke warned the jury that under your orders that jury would have nothing further to eat until they rendered their verdict."

"In the face of this sworn charge, which courts everywhere have held sufficient to undermine the whole structure of jury trials and to destroy the integrity of such a verdict, your ballot has remained silent and this court impasse. May I ask whether judicial travesty is not the right description of such proceedings?"

Miners Request for Writ Against Judge Before Supreme Court.

DENVER, Colo., July 12.—The State Supreme Court has taken under advisement the application of Horace N. Hawkins and A. M. Belcher, attorneys for the United Mine Workers of America, for a writ barring Judge Granby Hillier of the Third Judicial District from presiding at the trial of three former coal miners at Walsenburg. The application was opposed by Attorney-General Farrar and Assistant Attorney-General Norton Montgomery.

The application charged that Judge Hillier was prejudiced and could not give a fair and impartial trial, asserting that before his appointment the judge was in the employ of the coal operators.

OLEO BUSINESS OF STATE THREATENED BY FORGOTTEN LAW

Food Commissioner Finds Statute Which Prohibits Sale of Colored Artificial Butter.

Prosecuting Attorney Sidener, and State Food Commissioner Fricke are discussing what action shall be taken towards enforcing a forgotten Missouri statute which, if literally construed, is expected to ruin the colored oleomargarine business in St. Louis, a business that involves hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. It is a statute which positively prohibits the sale of colored oleomargarine in this State, forbids its manufacture for consumption in the State, but permits its manufacture for exportation.

The Pure Food Commissioner has filed 38 complaints against dealers and has asked that warrants be issued for them. The Prosecuting Attorney is considering the advisability of selecting one as a test case to be carried to the Supreme Court.

Conflicts With Another Law. Although there is already a Supreme Court decision upholding this statute, the Prosecuting Attorney's opinion it did not go into what appears to be a conflict between this and another law. The other law, an older one, provides that oleo must not be sold for consumption in the State unless it is adequately labeled as such. This, by implication, licenses the sale when the oleo is properly labeled.

The law under which Fricke is asking the prosecutions is section 631 in the Revised Statutes of 1901. It is identical with section 631 of the old Statutes. "Coloring of Imitation Butter Prohibited." The older law is section 433, indexed "Selling Oleomargarine-Label." "The question that concerns me most," said the Prosecuting Attorney, "is whether section 631 repeals section 433. The later law naturally takes precedence over an earlier one and, where there is positive conflict, repeals it. But the Supreme Court is always jealous in construing such repeals, unless the later law actually shows within itself that it was the intention of the Legislature to make it repeal the earlier."

Prefers One Test Case. "To my mind section 631, literally construed, is extremely drastic and confiscatory. Of course, if it is the law, it will have to be enforced. It seems to me the just thing to do would be to take a single case through the courts in a test action rather than to take summary action against all persons who seem to be violators. In this way only one person would suffer temporarily if the statute were not sustained, while in the other way many would suffer. Prosecution under section 631 certainly will hit the oleo business hard."

Commissioner Fricke said that he himself did not know of section 631 until he chanced upon it while looking up a matter the Post-Dispatch had brought to his attention. This was a question as to whether a restaurant keeper who served oleo that was not labeled so that his customer could know what it was was violating section 433. "As soon as I found section 631," he said, "it seemed so drastic that I referred it to our legal department. I am advised that it has been sustained by the Missouri Supreme Court in two cases. I am advised that a similar law was tested through the courts of Massachusetts and into the United States Supreme Court and found valid. There was nothing left for my department to do but to enforce the law."

Oleo Sold for Butter. The Commissioner admitted that one thing that had inclined him to take action was the discovery that dealers in St. Louis frequently make it a practice to serve colored oleo across the counter to customers who have asked for butter and that also peddlers also frequently sell their product as butter.

"It was to prevent this very practice, as I understand it," the Commissioner continued, "that the Legislature passed this law." The Commissioner says he expects to file complaints against manufacturers, jobbers, retailers and peddlers who sell colored oleo and that ultimately he probably will begin action against hotel and restaurant keepers who serve it. The law permits a housewife to color her own oleo for family use. As a food product the Commissioner declared oleo was better than 70 per cent of the butter to be bought, so long as it contains the right kind of coloring matter. He is planning, he said, a campaign against persons who violate the law as to labeling renovated butter.

DIRECTOR HOLMES OF FEDERAL MINE BUREAU DIES IN DENVER

He Was at One Time in Charge of Survey Laboratories in St. Louis.

DENVER, July 13.—Joseph Austin Holmes, 55 years old, director of the Federal Bureau of Mines at Washington and a widely known geologist, died at his home here yesterday of tuberculosis.

Dr. Holmes was a native of South Carolina. He had been director of the Bureau of Mines since its creation by Congress in 1910. In 1904 he was in charge of the geological survey laboratory for testing fuel in St. Louis. He was a graduate of Cornell University. He was credited with making "safety first" a national movement. Mrs. Holmes and four children survive.

GUS THOMAS TO TAKE UP DUTIES OF CHARLES FROHMAN

Playwright Will Succeed Late Manager as Artistic Director of Plays.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Augustus Thomas, playwright and former St. Louisian, will be art director of the new Charles Frohman company, it was announced yesterday at the Frohman offices. Alf Hayman, who will remain the business head of the concern, said last night.

"Only two men are fitted to take Mr. Frohman's place. David Belasco, of course, is unavailable. The other, Augustus Thomas, was appointed yesterday to become art director."

Thomas, St. Louisan, Awarded Medal for Dramatic Achievements.

"Gus" Thomas is a native of St. Louis and is 55 years old. He was employed in his early days on the Post-Dispatch and other St. Louis newspapers. He is the author of "In Mizouri," "Arizona," "The Earl of Pavlov," "The Witching Hour" and several other successful plays. In November, 1913, the American Academy of Arts and Letters, with headquarters in Chicago, awarded him a gold medal for having achieved more in the drama than any other living American. His mother, Mrs. Imogene C. Thomas and his sister, Miss Alice C. Thomas, live at 3672 Finney avenue.

Thomas last March, while visiting in St. Louis, said in an interview in the Post-Dispatch that the vocabulary of about one-half the population of New York was limited to 20 words, and that managers chose plays which fitted this narrow range of expression. As New York is the producing center of the United States, he said theater-goers all over the country suffered from this "concession to the ignorance of New Yorkers. He has advocated the suppression of Sunday theatrical performances.

Romances between Westminster youths and the girls of William Woods College are no new thing in Fulton, but in the present case, young Bartley was following the example of his father, P. E. Bartley, cashier of a bank in Helena.

He was a student in Westminster, and married a William Woods girl.

INSPECTORS COUNT VEHICLE TRAFFIC ON LOCUST STREET

Director Talbert Getting Data in Plan to Make It One-Way Thoroughfare.

Eight inspectors from the Street Department were stationed today along Locust street, from Broadway to Thebes avenue, to count vehicle traffic and report to Director Talbert, who has under consideration a plan to make Locust street a one-way thoroughfare at certain hours in the morning and evening.

Inspectors were supplied with printed lists, on which they tabulated the number of delivery wagons, trucks, automobiles and buggies using the street. They will report daily, until such time as Director Talbert thinks a fair count has been made of traffic on the street.

Director Talbert said that if Locust street should be converted into a one-way thoroughfare, it probably would be only for two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening.

The plan under consideration is to permit only east-bound traffic on the street from 7 to 9 a. m., when most of the traffic is moving downtown, and to permit only west-bound traffic between 4 and 6 p. m., when most of the traffic is moving that way.

West-bound traffic in the morning and east-bound traffic in the afternoon, during the one-way hours, would be diverted to Pine and Chestnut streets.

Considerable opposition to the one-way plan is expected from auto dealers, who have establishments on Locust street.

The one-way plan has been under consideration for several months, and previously was announced by Police Commissioner McPheters, in an argument in behalf of the Central Parkway.

PRESIDENT SAID TO BE GAINING IN PUBLIC FAVOR

New York Sun Canvass Shows That Root Is Republican Favorite for President.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The New York Sun has completed a canvass of the United States in regard to political conditions, and is publishing the results daily. The conclusions thus far presented are, first, that Elihu Root is at present the favorite for the Republican presidential nomination; and, second, that President Wilson is gaining in strength with the people throughout the country.

The Sun has also inquired, in different sections, whether the business situation is improving, but has presented no definite conclusion, thus far, as to that matter.

One of the questions asked by the Sun, as to the Republican situation, was whether there was any sentiment for either Roosevelt or Taft, for the Republican nomination. Hardly any sign of sentiment in behalf of either was shown.

New York and Eastern states generally favor Root, it was indicated. Former Senator Burton of Ohio, Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, Senator Borah of Idaho and Senator Cummins of Iowa were shown to have their following. P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania, former Vice President Fairbanks of Indiana and Senator Smith of Michigan may be presented by their own states.

Gov. Whitman of New York could not win an endorsement in that State against Senator Root, it was stated. Sentiment for Root was shown in Missouri and Illinois. The name of former Gov. Haden of Missouri did not appear in the correspondence, and there was only casual mention of Congressman Mann of Illinois, as a possibility.

As to President Wilson's strength with the people, correspondents dwelt chiefly on two matters—the administration's foreign policy and business conditions. The former had tended to strengthen the President throughout the country, the latter had weakened him in some sections, correspondents said. In general, the agricultural sections were faring better than the industrial sections, and were hence more inclined to favor the administration.

While the impression was given that the country was united in support of the President's foreign policy, there was a difference of opinion as to how far this would mean political support for the President in another campaign. In the Northwest and on the Pacific Coast reports showed the President to be particularly strong. An Indiana correspondent said Wilson would be hard to beat, but that "everyone out this way is dead set against a Democratic Congress." The suggestion that Wilson is stronger than his party is made by several writers.

TO THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT

A Message to Every Man and Woman Reader Who is Thin, Run Down and Ten Pounds or More Underweight. A Real Flesh Builder Found at Last. Simple, Harmless Home Treatment Quickly

INCREASES WEIGHT from 10 to 40 Lbs.

By Filling Out Hollows of the Body with Firm, Healthy, "Stay There" Flesh and Muscular Tissue.

Many thin men and women say, "I'd give most anything to put on a little flesh and weight," but when a friend suggests a way they exclaim: "Not a chance, I've tried everything. Nothing will make me fat up. I'm built to stay thin." Until you have tried Sargol you do not and cannot know that this is true.

Being "built to stay thin" means only that your assimilative organs are defective. It isn't food that makes folks fat. It's what the blood absorbs from the food, the fats, sugars, starches, albumens and what you eat. You eat three square meals full of flesh building material every day, but you do not gain in weight a single "stay-there" ounce because your blood cannot absorb these fatty elements and they pass from your body as waste. Stop this waste, retain in your body all of the fat-making material of your meals and you will plump up to normal proportions very quickly.

Sargol is a real flesh builder, for, eaten with meals, it separates or extracts every ounce of the flesh, fat and strength-giving nourishment of your food and prepares it in a form which your blood can readily absorb and carry to every undeveloped portion of your body. Then your weight begins to go up.

Probably you are wondering now whether this can really be true. Stop wondering or you'll never really know. Make the test yourself, just as thousands have done before you. Try eating Sargol with your meals for just six days and see for yourself the wonderful improvement it makes in your appearance. It is the cost is little and should it fail the cost is nothing, as leading druggists everywhere sell it on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

We believe that the skinniest, scrawniest man or woman can "fill out," become plump—yes, actually fat—and all by this simple, harmless, home treatment, which imposes no

"Gee, look at that pair of skinny scarecrows, why don't they try Sargol!"

SUMMER DAYS ARE FLESH BUILDING DAYS

Best Season in the Year for Thin People to Increase Weight Says Well-Known Authority.

There is no better time for thin people to gain in weight and to put on from 10 to 30 pounds of good, healthy, stay-there flesh and muscle tissue than in the summer days. The food nourishment which keeps the blood warm seems in warmer weather to directions is absolutely guaranteed by Judge & Dolph, 3 stores; Wolff-Wilson Co., Weipert Drug Co., Johnson-Enderle-Pauley Co., 6 stores, and other leading druggists in this vicinity to increase your weight to a satisfactory degree or money back.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT A POUND A DAY

This man and woman who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy, stay-there fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First, weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one ounce with every meal for five weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how much you eat, but of how much your blood can absorb. The scale and the tape measure will tell the story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first 14 days by following this simple direction.

And, best of all, the new flesh stays put. Sargol does not itself make fat, but by mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe fat, producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—pressure it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily absorb. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop into pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Judge & Dolph 3 stores; Wolff-Wilson Co., Weipert Drug Co., Johnson-Enderle-Pauley Co., 6 stores, and other leading druggists in St. Louis and vicinity sell it in large boxes—40 tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

SAYS NO ONE NEED REMAIN THIN NOW

Physician's Advice for Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, while eating a good deal of food, are unable to get the nourishment out of it. They are thin and run down, and their blood is deficient in the elements which make them fat. You think you cannot be fatter, but a recently discovered, powerful active force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for restoring the waste of sickness or faulty digestion, and for strengthening the system. The remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Its strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this perfect preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Judge & Dolph 3 stores; Wolff-Wilson Co., Weipert Drug Co., Johnson-Enderle-Pauley Co., 6 stores, and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitality, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

TO REGAIN LOST FLESH AFTER ILLNESS

It should be remembered that it is not so much what or how you eat but how you digest it that will decide how quickly lost flesh can be regained. By taking with every meal a single Sargol tablet you should regain lost flesh quickly. Sargol mixed with your blood extracts from your food the elements which make flesh and strength, and carries them to every part of your body in a form which your blood can readily absorb.

WOULD NOT TAKE $1000 FOR SARGOL

For One A. B. Elliott writes: "I feel that I am doing your company, myself and other sufferers a injustice by holding in secret the good I have received from Sargol. I lost my health, gradually running down until I was completely exhausted. It contained the presence of a cure of tuberculosis. From that time up to two months ago I could not get much sleep or nourishment of any kind and stomach over five minutes to an hour at any time. I was growing weaker day by day until I concluded to try your Sargol. I can say I would not take $1000 for the good received in my case. This may reach other sufferers and do them the good it has done me."

Table of Statistics Similar to Those Used by Leading Life Insurance Companies.

Life insurance companies are becoming more and more strict in their physical requirements of those who would take out policies. Any material falling in weight from their table of normal weight statistics is in itself sufficient to cause them, in most cases, to regard the applicant as an "undesirable risk." The following table of normal weights enables both men and women to know exactly what their ideal weight should conform to the average for various heights.

TO PEOPLE WHO ARE LOSING WEIGHT

Any unnatural loss of flesh and weight, even though gradual, should be regarded with alarm. Unless the result of actual illness it is a certain indication that the flesh and strength giving elements in your food are passing out of your body as waste instead of going to the blood, where they belong. You can quickly correct this condition and win back from ten to thirty pounds of healthy stay-there fat by eating a little Sargol with your meals.

PICKS UP 30 POUNDS; "THAT'S GOING SOME."

"I have taken Sargol as directed," writes O. M. Gardner of Oregon, "and found it to be as recommended. I gained in flesh after the first 15 days. Before taking it I weighed 136 pounds. I now weigh 166 pounds. That is going some."

GAINS 12 POUNDS, "SARGOL DID IT."

R. A. Matter writes: "Before taking Sargol I weighed 115 pounds. Now I weigh 127 pounds. What caused the change? There is only one answer—Sargol did it."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Sell Bread by Weight.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I think that the writer of the letter entitled "The Diminished Loaf," does understand his business, which, as a consumer, is to kick when he is imposed upon. As the increased price of flour is, as we all hope, temporary, why did not the bakers charge six cents for the loaf and keep it the same size? The reason is that the odd penny would be a continual reminder of the special tax which would have to be taken off, whereas by charging the same and decreasing the size of the loaf, they knew that the matter would soon be forgotten by the public and that the loaf could still remain the same size, even if wheat should go down to 50 cents a bushel. The tax on beer for the Spanish-American war is still levied in saloons, although the war is almost forgotten and now the percentage of foam has increased, due to the European war. If anything else turns up the poor man will get nothing but foam for his money.

Everywhere you turn you are met with the same chicanery and fraud, every new tax imposed by the Government is made an excuse to extort larger profits, until the people of America are suffering more than those in Europe, who are in actual warfare. This condition, I am sorry to say, will continue indefinitely if the spineless public does not wake up and kick, where the kick belongs.

"White Wings" Poorly Paid.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
You may think Miss Rumbold should get $2400 a year or $200 a month. She is a woman with no family to support. I am a poor laborer in the street department who works under the weather permits, and if it rains too hard, I am laid off because the streets are clean. My salary is never over $35 a month, as we are paid $1.50 a day when we work. Why not help the poor devil first; see that he gets living wage? Why not fight for us to get $50 a month, rain or shine, or $600 a year? Not $2400.

Confessional Secrets Are Sacred.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In order that a false impression may not be taken from an item appearing in the Post-Dispatch under date of July 7, I wish you would kindly give space to this letter. Under the heading, "Spiritual Adviser Declines to Sign Spouse Petition," regarding the petition for the commutation of the sentence of William Sprouse, under sentence to be hanged July 16 at Clayton, the following paragraph appears: "Both Mrs. Halman and Paul Bakewell Jr., a lawyer, have called upon Father Stepha to learn what Sprouse has said about his innocence or guilt in the confessional. Publicly Sprouse had maintained his innocence. To a non-Catholic mind this would appear that the priest would be at liberty to reveal the secrets of the confessional, when the truth of the matter is that any priest would gladly lay down his life, if necessary, rather than repeat to anyone what was told to him in confession. I am sure that this must be an error in reporting this visit of Mr. Bakewell, and you will take the occasion to correct it."
HOLY NAME SOCIETY MEMBER.

Indecent Films.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Since the appearance in your columns of the protest against these indecent and deadly lures to crime and perdition, quite a number of communications have reached me, commending a cleansing crusade and citing farther local laches in the direction indicated.
It would greatly facilitate matters if such communications were addressed to E. V. P. Schneider, 641 International Life Building, City. Without fee or reward, whatever this gentleman is acting on behalf of the St. Louis branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies in America, an excellent organization which is doing yeoman service in the direction of stamping out the coarser elements in the picture show business, theatrical (mis)management, impure literature, indecent postal cards and whatnot.

In the meantime, a strict boycott of all shows implicated, might serve a most useful purpose. I raid, anyhow, on pocket-books, is oftentimes far more effective than scores of letters in the public prints, and even than admonitions on the subject, from the pulpit, which, by the way, are painfully few and far between.

JOHN TOWERS.

Grape Juice Dope.

From the Florida Times-Union.
Mr. Bryan's plan for ending the war would work if all the belligerents would quit fighting.

THE NAVY LEAGUE'S CAMPAIGN.

The Navy League campaign for a stronger navy has reached St. Louis in the form of Maj. J. J. Dickinson of Washington, who is educating and organizing the Middle West to support larger naval appropriations by Congress.

In so far as the Navy League seeks by a campaign of education to inform public opinion on the needs of the navy and crystallize it into support of a sufficient and efficient navy for defense it is good. We are so fortunately placed that we do not need a large regular army. We require a modest but well trained, thoroughly equipped skeletonized army, supplemented with large available reserves of well-trained citizens soldiery. The young men of the country should have training for military service as reserves.

We need adequate coast defenses. Our existing defenses are not equal in men and guns to the requirements of our coast line and harbors. We need above all an efficient navy, strong enough to defend the country against sea attack. We are liable to strong attack only on the sea and there lies our chief need of defensive armament.

The leaders of the Navy League will have to be careful to keep their movement on sound defensive lines and wholly free from jingoism and the greedy hand of the interests that want to profit by ship and gun contracts. It must be a sincere, popular movement for national defense. Now is the time to begin work of this kind.

OUR TALKING COLONELS.

Colonel Peace-At-Any-Price and Colonel War-At-All-Costs addressed the American people from opposite edges of the country on the same day without unduly exciting anybody. It is perhaps significant that Col. Bryan talked on the Pacific coast and Col. Roosevelt on the Atlantic seaboard, while the body of the nation, and its thought, lay between the extremes.

Col. Bryan advanced approval of "any steps the President might take to keep Americans out of the danger zone," while Col. Roosevelt talked vehemently about "action without an hour's unnecessary delay."

Both of the Colonels furnished us bountiful cause for thankfulness that neither succeeded in his third design on the presidency.

FREEDOM OF THE SEA.

In the German note is the following sentence: The Imperial German Government cherishes the definite hope that some way will be found, when peace is concluded, or perhaps earlier, to regulate the law of maritime war in a manner guaranteeing the freedom of the seas, and will welcome it with gratitude and satisfaction if it can work hand in hand with the American Government on that occasion.

The time to defend the freedom of the seas is when it is menaced by attack and by lawless warfare on ocean traffic. Germany has a way open to do a great work for this cause by guaranteeing, so far as she is concerned, the freedom of the seas and safety on the seas for Americans and all the neutrals engaged in travel and trade on merchant ships.

This is the only way the German Government can work hand in hand with the American Government. It cannot do it by lawlessly attacking American ships and killing American citizens; nor by attempting to impose freedom-destroying conditions on Americans using the ocean.

A LAUGHING MATTER.

An Associated Press correspondent on the firing line near Arras reports among other details of the gory business:

The principal occupations of the soldiers when off duty are eating and sleeping. The visitor hears more hearty laughter in an hour at the front than in a week behind the lines.

That man can eat, drink, be merry and sleep the sleep of the just while actually engaged in it appears to be the only compensating feature of a pastime that lays industry in ruins, wipes out civilization, punctures optimism, discounts faith, flouts religion, and slays humanity by the million.

Famine, flood, fire and pestilence are no jests, but war seems to be the one great laughing matter. Nothing else shows man so care-free. On what great enterprises of peace does he embark so lightly or engage so wholeheartedly? How conscientiously and with what freedom of soul he pursues his primal passion. How unctuously, righteously and with what exultant justification do all the nations come to the conflict. No such singing or shouting is ever heard on earth as mark the joy of men lusting for each other's blood.

Is man at his best also when he is at his worst or is he spiritually at low ebb when he glorifies in brutality? Does the soul of the world suffer in the apothecia and joyous agony of the physical? Is there any justification for the mad hysteria and destructiveness of sheer clashing animalism?

INVITATION TO WEBSTER GROVES.

A resident of Webster Groves, whose letter was printed in Monday's Post-Dispatch, approves of the Greater St. Louis idea. He thinks it would be a good thing for St. Louis to take in its unincorporated suburbs, but he is so proud of Webster Groves on account of its varied excellencies that he protests against a union with St. Louis.

St. Louis also is proud of Webster Groves. That town is making wonderful strides. It has certain advantages of its own. No St. Louisan would rob it of those advantages.

But, as the Post-Dispatch has said, the growth of St. Louis and the ultimate incorporation with it of its suburbs is inevitable. Consider Greater New York, with its mother city and its splendid boroughs, each borough with its president and its own board of works. That is a city of which the whole world is proud. And in the 17 years of its existence as a united metropolis, it has undoubtedly been more prosperous and a better city to live in than it would have been had its parts remained more or less antagonistic or at least politically disconnected cities. There is a tremendous economy, also, in what business men call "overhead expenses," when a city and its suburbs unite.

The one advantage which Webster Groves can boast of, if it be an advantage, is its freedom from saloons. But this is a matter the residents of that suburb can always control, if they remain in their present frame of mind as to saloons. No town and no district need have saloons if the people are a unit in opposition to them.

We invite Webster Groves to take the broader view. Shall St. Louis, with the aid of her suburbs, become a city of a million population or over? And is not Webster Groves willing to do its part towards realizing this vision? St. Louis needs Webster Groves' virtues, and Webster Groves need St. Louis' aid in those material, political and spiritual advantages only to be found in the great metropolis.

IF CARRANZA HAS LEARNED ANYTHING.

Gen. Carranza is now in the best position of any of the contending factions to establish a stable government in Mexico. He controls the leading seaport, he controls the capital and he controls a line of railway between the two. His first task of restoring order in Mexico City and bringing in food for the starving should be easily achieved. If he then can consolidate this position with any promise of permanency and prove a capacity for extending the area of orderly control northward, it will not be difficult for him to gain the moral support of the United States in bringing all Mexico out of anarchy into peace and reconstruction.

But to solidify his present advance and gain American recognition he must revise his methods and improve his diplomatic manners. He must be conciliatory with his factional adversaries. He must show a spirit of concession and compromise. He will not hurt his cause by being a little less querulous and obstinate and truculent in relation to the Washington Government and its unselfish efforts to help Mexico out of her troubles.

Perhaps the pride and pomposity of the old Castilian have been chastened by recent experiences. If so, it may easily be that the beginnings of a stable government to be recognized by the United States are now at work in Mexico City.

THE ALLIES' ONE GREAT WEAKNESS.

The suggestion of the Petrograd army organ, the Ruskly Invalid, for concerted action on the part of the allies implies that there has been little of such action in the past.

The principal operations of France and England in the same theater of war and the nearness of the two countries make common initiative in most matters unavoidable. But Italy, which adjoins France, is warring in an independent field. Russia is separated from her greater allies by long distances. While there have been understandings as to common aims and while events on one front have logically indicated the action to be taken on the other, there has been little correlation of effort in the East and West.

The forces of Germany and Austria are directed as a unit. That distance is no bar to action in accordance with centralized German planning is shown in the case of Turkey. The fatal lack of the allies is the lack of the Union side up to the time Gen. Grant obtained the chief command during our Civil War—operations in an extensive area carried on without relation to one another and directed to no common purpose.

Frederick the Great, whose tactics the Kaiser tries to imitate so closely, had the same advantage in a lack of co-operation on the part of the allies by whom he was opposed.

THERE IS NO "HALF WAY."

From the New York World.
Not even a national racial sympathy should so blind American citizens to the duty of upholding not the "demands" but the rights of this country. We cannot in honor turn over to Germany the safeguarding of American ships under the Stars and Stripes; that is our task. We cannot haggle for special favors to our citizens on belligerent merchant vessels; we must assert their lawful rights not only on belligerent ships but in all proper places and activities. We cannot restrict trade rights of citizens which the German Government is careful not to dispute in other directions. We cannot for the past cordons off for the future consent to the unrequited murder of American noncombatants. For many centuries the claims of humanity in warfare scarcely gained upon the classic "woe to the conquered" that meant slavery or the sword. Then, upon the very soil now most cruelly watered with blood and tears there began a gradual growth of human militants and limitations affecting warfare, in which advance America has of late worthily taken her share.

In a moment of madness all this structure of civilization is thrown away. War becomes by so much more than medieval as the swift march of science permits. Poisoned wells, asphyxiating gas, bombs dropping upon partly populated towns, the shooting of hostages, that worst form of terrorism which on pain of death sets men in occupied territory forging weapons for the slaughter of their countrymen, all reappear.

For the first time in a hundred years far more than half the armed power of mankind is at war. There is on earth no restraint that can keep the hists and compel the observance of the sacred claims of humanity. Nothing can be hoped for in that direction but a stern reckoning after the war is fought to a finish, and then a replighting of broken faith.

So much more keen the need, so much more binding the obligation, so much more precious the privilege of neutral nations to insist that at least their hard-won immunities shall not be transgressed. Need any obligation and privilege especially pertain to the great neutral nation whose reserve power must compel respect for her insistence? Because we are right we can be patient. Because we are strong we can risk misconception of our attitude. We should be careful of the susceptibilities of other nations and make all due allowance for the natural feelings of proud peoples at war. For the pacific tone of the German note, especially for that modification of submarine policy, apparent in the Anglo-California case, that speaks more clearly than words, there should be prompt and general recognition. Neither for haste nor threats is there any room.

But it should be made very clear—the German press in this country should aid in this work instead of persistently raising false expectations in Berlin—that neither to Great Britain nor to Germany can we concede any hard-won right that has come to us from a more merciful past. All the neutral immunities and rights handed down from our ancestors—and more if possible, for humanity's sake—we must deliver unimpaired to posterity. In this issue there is no "half way."

The Sex of Doctor.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.
Maude Glasgow, M. D., declares that men who are physicians and surgeons are afraid to admit women to the profession. So are men who may be patients. A man in a Christian country simply cannot marry both the trained nurse and the doctor.

"HAVE YOU A GERMAN PERMIT?"

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
by Clark McAdams

PANATELA.

N O Luella dear,
The Germans
Have not slipped
The magic trick
That suffices
For advancement
Much beyond
The River Bug.
North of that Historic border
Lie those
Military bourns
From which
No invading army
Ever happily returns.

In the prospect.

All is rosy—
Smiling plains
And flying heels;
Food and water
In abundance—
Even caviar
At meals.
One would think
That one
Could rally
Up the plain
With steel and lead,
And surprise
The Little Father
Dreaming on
The royal bed.

That prospect.

Is like the Siren
Sweetly singing
On her island;
But the Germans
Dear Luella,

Will consider
For a while.
Did not Bonaparte
The mighty
Yield to that
Alluring chase,
And return
With shame and horror
Nicely written
On his face?

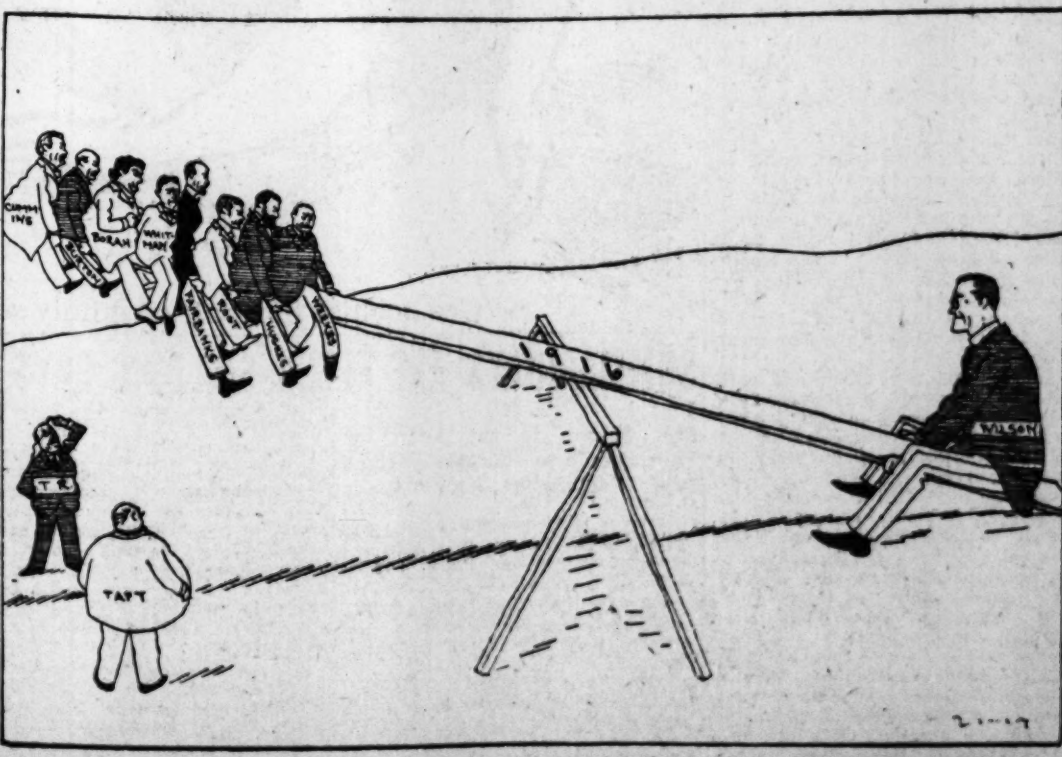

On the River Bug,
Luella,
Is a bully
Place to think—
There where all
The pollywoggles
Love to puddle
At the brink.

There where all
The bugs together
Lift their voices
Up to sing
In the gloaming,
O my dearie,
And the doodlebug
Is king.

Having failed to force the Dardanelles from the north, Russia is sending troops around from Vladivostok to see if it is possible to do anything on the south. If the transports carrying the Russians around will offer transportation back, they will no doubt find a great many Britons and Frenchmen who would like to try it a while where the Russians have given it up. The only people who seem wholly satisfied with what they are doing over there are the Turks. The Turks contemplate the spectacle of the Allies playing both ends against the middle as if that celebrated combination had never been heard of.

Mr. Kuhs will not buy Judge Shields a drink.

NOTHING DOING AS YET.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Recipes and formulas in this column are not recommended by the Post-Dispatch. It merely publishes them as giving the experience of persons who have been successful with them. There are persons who do not succeed with a recipe that requires care and close attention.

HEALTHY HINTS.

L. K.—Possibly you have the wrong glasses. Weak eyes: One teaspoon powdered boric acid, 15 drops spirits camphor, a bowl of boiling water. Mix, strain through muslin, and apply as needed.

HOPE—If you use tobacco it may have affected your heart. Talk with a physician. Kidney disease is said to cause fullness under the eyes, but the puffiness is sometimes hereditary. Lack of elasticity in the tissues of the face is given as another cause.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

NEUTRAL—Instantaneous bleaching fluid: In 3½ pints of water, heated to 100 or 110 degrees F., are introduced successively: Mother of pearl, 3½ oz.; indigo, 0.5 gr.; cochineal, 0.5 gr.; chloride of lime, 10 gr.; soda crystals, 10 gr.; potash, 10 gr. Boil half an hour and it is ready for use.

YOUNG WIFE—Place spinach in deep bowl of water. It floats on the top, and the dirt settles at the bottom. After, therefore, having moved the spinach about quickly in a bowl of water, take it off the top of the bowl with the fingers and throw it into a basin. Empty the water and wash it once again in some fresh water. Another point that should be borne in mind at starting is that all the stalks should be picked carefully away, and it is well to let the spinach drain upon a sieve. Then throw it a handful at a time into a large steapen or saucepan of boiling water that has been well salted and boil it until it becomes tender. Franchetti, who is undoubtedly a very great authority on the subject of cooking, recommends as soon as spinach is cooked tender to drain it off in a colander and then immerse the spinach in cold water thoroughly, and afterwards squeeze it in a cloth so that all the water is removed from it. Probably the idea is to get rid of as much as possible of the spinach-juice. There are three ways by which you can make brown gravy for meat. The first is after roast or cutlets have been taken from the pan, to stir into the fat remaining a tablespoon of flour and a spoonful of water. The second is to add two spoons flour to same amount of butter of fat in a pan from roast or broiled meats, cook a few moments, stirring all the time, then thin with cup and half of stock or water. The third is to add a half cup of water to a half cup of stock, and thicken with a light colored sauce, but by adding a light teaspoon of culinary cornstarch, the sauce is ready for seasoning and coloring soups and gravies, your gravy will take on a rich and appetizing color and flavor.

LAW POINTS.

P. J. H.—Pawnbroker may sell after 80 days.
BESS—Husband cannot sell farm without your signature.
READER—At this writing the only free legal aid is at Ninth and Locust, Board of Education Building.
READER—Convict released from Federal prison could not vote unless his disabilities had been removed by the President. A convict on parole is allowed to vote.

READER—Law book store probably has some book embracing the subject in various states. Or you might try inquiry by sending return postal card to Attorney-General of each state.
F. J.—The adjoining property owner cannot regulate anything, and you can place your window where you please. Permit to make the alteration would be necessary, we believe. See Building Department in reference to the matter.

LOAN—The section is 4871 under chap. 36, art. 1, § 3, 1909. On sums not exceeding $500 secured by mortgage or other instrument not exceeding 1 per cent shall be charged, as interest or for the use of the money, doing so the instrument securing same shall be void. This section has other provisions as to sale of such mortgage to innocent purchasers, penalties, etc.

D. B.—Advise firm of your inability to pay and they may not go further than to take back the mortgaged goods; however, should they foreclose according to terms of the mortgage and auction off the same, and it brings less than the mortgage debt, together with costs, they could sue you for the balance. If you have paid a fair amount and you not being a responsible party, they would no doubt take the furniture and let it go at that.

MRS. A. A. B.—Had your mother in law, while this property was in her will, inserted clause that you were to hold and have the same after the death of your present husband's marital rights, whether by the curtesy, statutory or otherwise, and you could have sold or made a will disposing of this property to suit yourself. As this clause is now, you could not have any rights in the house or may have at some time of your death, by will, as he can renounce it and take under the law. A divorce would be all right, every right and interest he may have.

MISCELLANEOUS.

STUDENT—We know of no loan funds for students. Perhaps we did not know the answers you wanted; or possibly their publication would have violated a necessary rule.

IRISHMAN—Mail between U. S. and Ireland are reasonably regular (every 2 days). We have nothing authentic as to whether British Government has forcibly prevented young men from leaving Ireland. Anything is possible in great wars.

NEW AMERICAN—The following official figures are from H. ter Braak, of the Young Men's Christian Association. Petitions for naturalization filed from Oct. 29, 1914, to May 1, 1915: Germany, 1,100; Austria, 70; total 1,170; Russians, 135; English, 4; Irish, 5; Scotch, 4; total, 138. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a great work in helping our immigrants for American life and duties. Through 1914 have come, either in social meetings, or in classes for the study of English 345; in classes for citizenship, 47. There are 24 classes.

SCHWARTZ—There are no reliable figures "to date." These are the Red Cross estimates of losses, published June 15: Germany—Dead, 42,000; slightly wounded, 140,000; seriously wounded, 67,000; prisoners, 231,000; total, 1,171,000. Austria—Dead, 11,000; slightly wounded, 41,000; seriously wounded, 11,000; prisoners, 231,000; total, 2,114,000. Great Britain—Dead, 11,000; slightly wounded, 11,000; seriously wounded, 11,000; prisoners, 231,000; total, 2,114,000. Russia—Dead, 1,000,000; seriously wounded, 1,000,000; prisoners, 1,000,000; total, 3,000,000. France—Dead, 1,000,000; seriously wounded, 1,000,000; prisoners, 1,000,000; total, 3,000,000. Italy—Dead, 1,000,000; seriously wounded, 1,000,000; prisoners, 1,000,000; total, 3,000,000. Grand total, 2,921,000.

The Three B's

Burton, Bross and Bradley—energetic young chaps who later ran in with Bertha, Blanche and Beatrice, transforming a happy trio into a very happy sextette.

By Adelaide Mason.

"ONE last toast—to the three B's." "Which ought to mean Burton's three bad boys, I suppose?" A jolly cafe trio, each member laughing boisterously. Their designation as "the three B's" had not been at all creditably won. They had attained their majority, were educated, well provided for as to money, and each equipped to enter the business arena in a good way. They had dallied for a year with no fixed motive or ambition in view, and day after day had passed, given to idle pleasure and vain folly.

Ned Burton, who recklessly given the toast, Watson Bross had echoed the sentiment. Tom Bradley was silent. He drank with the others, but there was no jolly smile on his face. As the others were about to arise and leave the table, he checked them with a mandatory gesture.

"Ready to go?" he interrogated, with strange gravity. "I've had enough," answered Ned. "And I'm sleepy," added Watson. "I've something to say," continued Tom. "It won't take long: Fellows, I met a poor, miserable wreck on my way here tonight. He was once a business partner of my dead father. Drink had done it. It set me thinking. I'm through."

"Huh?" stared Watson. "Oh, come, now," demurred Ned. "I'm in earnest, dead earnest," insisted Tom, soberly. "We are good friends, and the companionship is general, but we have wasted years, a precious year—another, going the pace, and we have canceled the years of a lifetime. Here I am, equipped for newspaper or literary work. What am I doing with my capabilities—nothing. To you, Ned, the promise of an able lawyer blighted. And you, Watson, with riches and fame before you as a capable engineer—oh, shame on our ingratitude! Our unworthy record! Our neglected promise of setting the world a noble example."

The Suggestion.

"UPON my word, he's in earnest," cried Watson. "A fine old gentleman, with a hobby—to connect Ferndale with one of the two railroads. He tried the scheme two years ago, has the right of way, invested $100,000 and stopped work because he could get no cooperation or encouragement. The minute he talked details I saw my chance."

"What to do?" asked Ned. "Carry the scheme through for him. As a practical engineer, I think I see my way clear. And say, talking of us, the three B's, what do you think?" went on the volatile Watson. The Colonel has three daughters, and they are, too—Bertha, Beatrice, Blanche. I never saw such loveliness!"

Business Began to Hum. WITHIN a month Ferndale was electrified. Smart, able Watson Bross had played the two steam roads one again; the other as to the proposed connection with Ferndale. He bargained so well that the Northern line agreed to pay half the construction cost.

Ferndale awoke from its lethargy. Business began to hum with the completion of the new spur, of which Watson Bross became chief engineer. And then came a natural and happy mating. Three bright, pretty girls, three brisk, handsome young men. There was no clash. Watson took to Bertha from the first. Ned was attracted by Blanche. The handsome man set eyes upon her. Watson found an agreeable companion in Beatrice.

There was a great celebration at Ferndale the day that Ned Burton was elected mayor. It was made more attractive by the fact that a triple wedding was current with the event.

Guide to Moving Picture Emotions

WHEN the leading lady vibrates her shoulders up and down about 400 to the minute and claps her hands, that means she is highly pleased over something.

When the leading man turns his face toward the place where the audience would have been if there had been one at the time the picture was taken, and moves his lips rapidly, that means he thinks you don't know what he is now going to do, but, alas! you guessed it two reels back.

When a sad young girl walks into her bedroom and throws a few clothes from a distance into an open dressing case, alarms it down and puts a Hoboken mackintosh over her arm, that means she is going to join a long-lost brother on some Western ranch—which is generally located in the interior of New Jersey.

When any man in the play kisses any girl before the last minute or so of the play, that means that he probably is only practicing on her.

When, in the beginning, an old man leads a young child into a room that has been furnished on the installment plan, that means that in the next 15 years the child will grow up and rescue somebody or other. We don't know what will happen to the old man, but, on a bet, we will lay a fair stake that he will, for a climax, appear in a vision blessing somebody, while the six-cylinder organette plays the Lost Chord.

The Tobacco Bug.

THOUSANDS of dollars' worth of tobacco has been destroyed yearly in this country by the ravages of the "tobacco bug," which ruins the cigars by boring a tiny hole in them. Much ingenuity has been spent in the direction of battling with this insect. The electrical sterilization of the eggs of the beetle with a high-frequency current has proved ineffectual, because the current follows the lines of moisture and leaves the eggs in the dry places, practically unscathed, and in a condition to become destructive later.

A special X-ray machine, constructed by Franklin Smith of Philadelphia, is said to have shown itself to be thoroughly effective in sterilizing the beetle's eggs. At Tampa, Fla., about 800 cigars are treated by X-rays every minute.

Berlin firemen use asbestos screens to protect them from the heat when fighting fires at close range.

Woman at Her Best in Filmy, Summer Dress

Milady Is Made Even More Alluring With the Cobwebby Laces and Flounces Now Decried by Fashion—Voile in Both Silk and Cotton Weaves All the Go for Practical Afternoon Frocks.

WOMAN has entered into her own kingdom again. Clad in filmy materials and cobweb flounces and wearing fluffed petticoats which are thin and supple, of course, but none the less petticoats, her triumph is complete.

In nets and laces ruffles are sometimes quite tiny and are used to decorate the edges of wide bands or other more pretentious trimming parts of a frock. In this way they are led into all sorts of vagaries, with no attempt to follow a straight and narrow path or keep themselves right side up. Frills set on upside down are the more alluring to stand the strain of crisp taffeta, which is particularly attractive by way of contrast on net or voile frocks.

Voile, by the way, both in silk and cotton weaves, is the material par excellence for practical afternoon frocks. It is light, cool, noncrushable and gathers and drapes as prettily as anything else that could be mentioned. Then, too, it is particularly adapted to one of the most popular means of trimming, that of machine hemstitching.

For more elaborate afternoon frocks the nets, chiffons, chiffon cloths and laces and sheer organza have preference. With them taffeta is combined in a very great deal, not only as trimming, but for distinctive parts of the frock. Exemplary of this is the design shown at the right.

Such a frock as this is equally suitable for informal evening wear as it is for dressy afternoon. At the left another interpretation of it is seen. Here chiffon or chiffon cloth, which might be in gray or some other color, is used for the bodice, the long sleeves included.

My Wife's Husband

A Domestic-Life Serial.

By Dale Drummond.

Chapter LIII.

Y learning to dance had just the opposite effect from what I had hoped. I had hoped to find out long afterward—was one of these women; and I, in my stupidity, thought that by heaping luxuries upon her as fast as I was able, I was fulfilling my duty as a man and as a husband; at she had no cause for complaint.

"Is it true that Mrs. Hemming is applying for a divorce?" I asked Jane one night after dinner, when, for the first time in weeks, I lingered in the library. "I believe so," Jane answered carelessly. "She applied for it some time ago; but did not want it known until everything was settled."

"I see! Do you know what grounds she used in asking for the divorce?" "Incompatibility, I believe," Jane replied, showing, by her manner, what I thought to be a singular lack of interest. "Poor woman!" I returned. "she has led rather a sorry life, I imagine, in spite of all her money."

"I don't look at it in that way," Jane answered. "But why discuss the matter? It's their business, not ours, if they can't agree. We talk to each other so seldom nowadays, you and I, it seems a pity to discuss disagreeable subjects."

"It is disagreeable, but so long as they are such close friends of yours, I should think you would be interested," I replied. "Well, I'm not!" Jane returned irritably.

Discussing the Hemmings.

HAD not realized that we seldom talked together, but as Jane spoke of it, I remembered that this was the first time—save at meals—in weeks that we had spent any time together or had attempted to discuss anything of mutual interest.

"I imagine she had other grounds aside from incompatibility that she cared to use them," I resumed. "Hemming has been pretty gay, and none too circumspect, if rumor is to be believed. I finished, not yet ready to drop the subject, and only too well pleased to give Hemming a rap.

"Yes, and—" "I absolutely refuse to talk further," she said.

IT RUINS HAIR TO WASH IT WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—ADV.

Some New Recipes

Hot Veal Loaf—Chop 2 pounds of lean veal and 1/4 pound salt pork; add 1 cup cracker crumbs, 1/2 sweet green pepper chopped finely, 3 beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon onion juice and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. Moisten with well flavored beef or veal stock, press in buttered bread pan; bake occasionally during baking. Bake one hour or little more.

Bagged Muffins—Mix together 1 pint of flour, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, a generous tablespoonful of lard and 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder; wet with a pint of milk; sprinkle the board with flour and, putting the dough upon it, roll to about 1/2 inch thick; spread with melted butter and maple sugar or brown sugar and roll like a jelly roll; cut in slices about 1/2 of an inch thick; lay in well buttered pans and bake in a very quick oven about 12 minutes; these are nice for luncheon or tea.

Lemon Jelly Cream With Bananas—One-half box gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 1 pint boiling water, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1 square inch stick cinnamon. Soak gelatin in cold water, shave the lemon rind, using none of the white; steep it with the cinnamon in the boiling water 10 minutes; add the soaked gelatin, strain into shallow dishes. When cold cut it in dice or break it up with a fork, put it in a glass dish in layers with sliced bananas. Brown the meringue on a plate and slip it off over the custard. Pour a cold boiled custard over the jelly and bananas before adding the meringue.

Parasitic Fritessies—Fry cubes of salt pork until brown, add 4 raw parsnips scraped and cut into small pieces; allow 1 cup of pork to 16 parsnips; cover with boiling water and simmer until tender, drain off water and add sliced cold potatoes and milk to cover; when this boils up season with salt, pepper and a lump of butter. Pour into dish containing squares of toasted bread 1 inch thick.

about the Hemmings' affairs!" Jane interrupted. "Aren't we having wonderful weather?" changing the subject.

I agreed as to the weather, and then we talked of John—a subject on which we both agreed—his studies, etc., for a time. Any feeling Jane may have had about the Hemming divorce was successfully hidden by her nonchalant manner, and we passed an unusually pleasant hour together.

I do not think I ever judged Jane harshly, ever lost faith in her. I resented her attitude toward my work, and my resentment tinged unpleasantly all our intercourse.

Long afterward, I knew that Jane was unhappy, that she suffered intensely.

Code of a Bellhop.

A NEW YORK bellhop has bought a hotel. He had a code for the art of getting tips, which is as follows:

Play the honeymooners hard; newlywed men like to make a spurge before their brides.

Don't waste time on "big bugs." Shower attention on the women; if they tip at all they tip liberally.

Don't "stall;" do your part and then leave it to the guest.

Don't persecute tightwads; shame them with faultless service.

Don't make yourself obnoxious by greed for tips.

Above all—save.

Ura and the Sheep

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

URA was a little girl who lived in a far-off Australia. Her home was with an English family named Winston, but her real people were dark-skinned natives, who lived in the plains and were known as bushmen. When a baby Ura had been very ill and her mother called in the white lady to see what the strange people's medicine would do.

Mrs. Winston gave the infant some simple remedy and it got well, but when the mother died a few weeks later on the bushman father brought it to the big house on the plantation, where the Winstons lived, and the white lady kept the tiny brown baby till now she was a bright child of 11.

One day the bushman father came to get his child back, but Ura did not want to go into the plains and live a wild life in grass huts. But the father insisted, so that Mrs. Winston, knowing she had no claim to hold the child, sadly told Ura that she would have to return to her father.

May, the baby of the Winston family, was but 3 years old, and Ura seemed devoted to the child.

One bright afternoon Ura, feeling sad about her having to return to the bushmen, went with May on a tramp near the sheep fields. They had a little basket of lunch, and Ura picked up a big red umbrella as she walked through the hall.

"That umbrella will only be in your way, child," said Mrs. Winston, as she put a few more apples and cakes into the basket and tucked May into the Sandman story of a brave little bush girl who used her wits just when they were needed most.

"You had best leave it home."

"It will keep off the sun and we can play it is a tent," replied Ura. "So I would like to have it." With a bit of wire she fixed it over the wagon, and, taking the pole, started on the trip. For an hour she walked, drawing the wagon at her heels, and Mrs. Winston, standing on her porch, could see the red umbrella shining brightly far away against the soft green of the rolling fields.

UNDER a big tree the two children camped and ate their lunch, then "Ura swung May in a grapevine till the sky began to darken."

"A storm is coming up, May," cried Ura, beginning to pack up the plates. "We must start home at once." So she put the baby in the wagon, and, throwing the umbrella across her arm, walked rapidly toward the house, which stood on a hill at least a mile off. The sky was fast growing darker. Black clouds stormed up in the west, and out of their lanky depths flashed the lightning. Ura began to run, but the wagon was heavy. Then the wind rose and few so strong that it was hard for her to fight her way.

As she plodded on against the storm she heard strange sounds behind her, and looking back saw a sight that made her stand still with horror—for far off she could see a thin, dark line coming across the plains, like the waves breaking on the shore. It was a large herd of sheep that had become frightened in their distant grazing grounds and were racing, mad with terror, before the storm. Of course sheep are not very large animals, but when they come by it thousands and rush over one, it means death.

Ura knew this. If the mass of wild racing animals reached them they would be trampled to death. And just then to make matters worse, May began to cry. The girl dropped the umbrella and took the weeping baby in her arms. She would save the little one, even at the risk of her own life. As she glanced at the red umbrella lying on the ground an idea came into her frightened brain—perhaps it was the very thing that would save them.

So she placed May on the ground and told her to walk rapidly toward home. Then she kept about four yards behind the baby, walking backward herself. When the rushing herd of sheep was a short distance off she opened the umbrella and shut it quickly. The flapping of the big red thing in their faces surprised and frightened the leaders, but they could not stop—behind were hundreds of other animals coming on at full speed. But they swerved aside, parting to right and left. As you know, sheep always follow the leaders, so as fast as they came up they caught sight of the red umbrella which Ura kept shutting and opening, and they, too, ran to one side, leaving a clear path. At last the herd swept by and vanished over the hill.

Just then the storm broke. But out of the roar of the rain Ura heard a shout and saw the men of the farm hurrying to their rescue. So a happy party it was that dashed to the house for a hot supper and a dry bed. And when the child settled to sleep that night, she felt a warm hand on her head.

"Ura," said Mrs. Winston, while her voice trembled with unshed tears, "you saved our baby today—I can never part with you. As long as we live this is your home here with us."

James Sent In Against Boehling in First Game With Washington.

THE BATTING ORDER.
WASHINGTON. Browns: Moeller, 2b; Miller, cf; Shanks, 1b; Connelly, 3b; Leary, 1b; Lavan, ss; McBride, c; Boehling, p.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 12.—Washington, which recently recovered from a protracted losing streak, today opened a five-game series against the Browns.

Manager Rickey picked James to spot them in the first game of today's double header, and paired him with Severed. Boehling and Henry were in the points for Washington. The umpires were Chalk and Evans. The attendance was 300.

FIRST INNING.
WASHINGTON—Moeller raised to Shotton. Foster doubled to left. Miller walked. Shanks hit into a double play. Leary to Lavan. NO RUNS.

BROWNS.—Shotton grounded out to Gandil. Miller singled to right. Henry going to third, but McBride was out trying for second. Shotton to Lavan. NO RUNS.

BROWNS.—Leary grounded to McBride. Lavan rolled to Connelly. Severed fanned. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.
WASHINGTON—Boehling out. Severed to Leary. Moeller fanned to James. Foster fanned out. Severed to Leary. NO RUNS.

BROWNS.—James walked. Shotton sacrificed. Connelly to Gandil. Austin lined to Moeller, whose throw to McBride doubled James off second. NO RUNS.

WASHINGTON TO LAND TWO BASEBALL STARS

FULTON, Mo., July 13.—Washington University of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association this afternoon when Paul S. Barker of St. Louis and Glenn Church of Kansas City enroll as medical students.

The young men intend to try for the baseball team and their work on the Missouri collegiate circuit during the last three seasons would indicate that they will experience no trouble in making the Pike-way adjustment. Barker played for the University of the Westminister College Blue Jay team at Fulton.

Carbarn is a catcher and last season led the baseball team at William Jewell College with such success that he was named the conference champion.

The Jewellites did not get to a regular member of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Carbarn was a member of the basketball and baseball teams for three seasons. In fact, Carbarn is a star in almost every branch of athletics at the school.

RESOLUTE AND VANITIE IN FIRST TRIAL SPINS

NEW YORK, July 13.—The America's cup yacht race and Vanitie today a series of three races off Sandy Hook, which will continue for a short time this season. The races will be sailed over the international cup course and under conditions like those of a race for the cup.

Vanitie is a windward and leeward one of the mile and a half course. The America's cup race is a triangular course for the same distance and the races have been sailed on Long Island Sound, where conditions do not favor so active a test as does the ocean course off Sandy Hook.

"Ump" Wallace's Fighting Face

One Look at It Will Dispel the Notion of Some Fans That the Scot Lacks the Stern Front Necessary to Baseball Officials.

UMPIRE BOB WALLACE.

WALLACE, who was named an umpire over a month ago, has shown in five cities of the circuit, since his appointment. He will be tendered a "day" on his first appearance here, July 17, when New York opposes the Browns. Ty Cobb is one of several players who speak well of Wallace's work as an official.

WILLAY'S COLUMN

The Daddy of All Errors.
UMPIRES FINNERAN AND HOWELL can take heart, confident that, in spite of the private convictions of Fielder Jones, they are not the worst sporting officials in the United States. Occasionally, in the past, they may have missed one a foot or two; but that's a mere trifle, likely to happen to anybody with human vision.

But think of the fellow who could make a mistake of 100 feet, or about one-fifth mile!

Such an error happened in the case of the official timer of the intercollegiate basketball game at Columbia Field, June 5, when a full minute was added to the time by Cornell last month.

It appears that the timer's split-second watch jumped a full minute, and that he gave out the time of the race as 20 minutes and 15 seconds, when the correct time, according to nearly every other watch held, was one minute less.

A boat propelled over a four-mile course in 16 minutes and 15 seconds, which is precisely the margin by which the official timer missed Cornell.

An eight-oared shell is about 65 feet long, so the official miscalculation was a mere bagatelle of 16 boat lengths.

Cornell Now Appears Best.
OF course the timer's error did not alter the result as regards the winner; but it caused a false impression to get about as to the merits of the Cornell performance. For, where as the false time was considered good and no discredit to the winning crew, it failed to show what a crack sculler Courtney had finally developed.

The correct time of this race is the best of the season and makes the Cornell crew appear better than either Yale, which rowed the distance in 20:52, or Harvard, both of these eight had trimmed Cornell earlier in the season.

Aronson Not in Shape.
WHEN the A. A. U. tryouts were held Saturday at Francis Field, "conspicuous by his absence" was one of the best of the Columbia A. C. supposed to be the best proven sprinter the city boasted.

According to Coach Fitzgerald of the Columbia A. C., Aronson was not in best condition for the sailing. Evidently, the club officials consider that jealousy played a larger part in Aronson's snubbing.

Aronson refused and now, it is reported, there's a great sprinter whom some club can have for the sailing. Evidently, the club officials consider that jealousy played a larger part in Aronson's snubbing.

FOULER TO FACE GUNBOAT SMITH'S STABLEMATE HERE

Nick Nelson, Danish Fighter, Will Get Rough Tryout in Bout Tonight.

Kelly to Meet Nelson; Weight, 154 Ringside
A MATCH has been made between Leo Kelly and Fred Nelson for July 20, and both men are now in training. The weight announced is 154 pounds ringside. This is two pounds more than the previous matches boxed by these two.

On June 1 Nelson won from Kelly on a decision of four in the third round. One week later they met again and Kelly was declared the winner in a bout that was very cautiously boxed and in which neither man appeared at his best, so anxious were they not to violate the rules because of severe criticism of the round work in their first meeting.

Nelson made 152 pounds ringside and appeared a bit too finely drawn. The added two pounds in the coming bout should be of material advantage to him.

From now on it is probable Kelly will enter the ring weighing close to 145 pounds.

By Harry S. Sharpe,
Referee of the Future City Athletic Club and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

Nick Nelson, who is to meet Monk Fowler for eight rounds at the Future City Athletic Club tonight, arrived in St. Louis Sunday evening, accompanied by his wife and 7-week-old daughter.

Yesterday afternoon Nelson worked out and made a good impression upon the railbirds who had gathered in the arena of the club. He is about 5 feet 10 inches tall, well built, and in his practice bout proved himself to be fast and clever with hands and feet.

Nelson is 30 years old, having been born in Denmark, May 1884. He is under the management of Jim Buckley, who is all the manager for "Harlem" Tommy Murphy and "Gunboat" Smith. He is well thought of in the East and did the past two years has boxed some well-known performers as "Kid" Taylor, "Dutch" Brandy (three times), "Kid" Sullivan (twice), Jacob White (twice), "Knockout" Eggers (three times), Geo. Cook (twice), Jerry Clifton, Warren Clegg (twice), Jerry Clifton, Paddy Murphy and Walter Nelson (three times).

Irrespective of the result of the forebodings, it must be conceded that the Dan is good to have boxed in that sort of company.

Fowler a Tough Bird.
Nelson will have to live up to his reputation to win from Fowler, for the latter is a fast, clever, tricky boxer who has made a name for himself in the world, though he was not always the winner. When Fowler makes his first appearance in St. Louis, he will be heralded in advance that the Memphis boxer was rough and foul and hard to handle in the ring. Somebody slandered the boy when they said that. To the contrary, he has always boxed fairly and well, making no excuses when he has lost and making his own when he wins. His last appearance here was on the night of Jan. 1, when he defeated White (twice) and Brandy. At the close of the bout, though the referee had decided in favor of Fowler, he was so badly hurt that he was unable to continue.

Fowler arrived in this city last Saturday morning and appeared in a good condition. He will box Nelson at 124 pounds, weighing in at 145.

In addition to the main event, Tommy Sullivan has arranged three bouts. In the semi-final, "Young" Jones has been matched with Leo Schneider for eight rounds at 118 pounds. The prize to be a good one.

SPORTS

SAL ALI BY L.C. DAVIS.

Cardinal Carols.
The Cardinals commenced the week by starting on a winning streak. Our boys copped out a double fray from Stallings' Beames, yesterday. They started off the double bill with Slim Salles upon the hill. Dick Rudolph was the Boston's pick and Stallings thought he'd turn the trick. But Sal was there with fancy curves that got upon the batters' nerves. They couldn't do a thing with Slim. Who proved to be in lovely trim. And when old Sal is feeling right, he might as well give up the fight. The credit goes to Hub Perdue. For wallowing the Boston crew. The Brittonites moved up a space and passed the Dodgers in the race. They're on the heels of Pat Moran, who fell before the Pirate clan. The days of miracles are past. And Stallings' bunch is running last. Pinched. The Braves were just on the point of sneaking off with the first game when the Sheriff said "Halt!" just like that. And they halted. The Sheriff realizes that he will be up for re-election, before long, and he's got to show something. Yesterday was Lady Day at Sportsman's Park, but for some reason or other the party was postponed. In consequence of yesterday's postponement the fair sea can go in twice today for nothing. In using the term fair sea, we are speaking generally. Come on out, girls, even if you have a friable or two. Philip de Catesby Ball also extends an invitation to the ladies to come into his ball yard and see his famous troupe of trained Terriers in their unparaded act of harpooning the Whales. The best way to get the full benefit of this glorious bargain day would be to witness the first contest at Col. Hedges' plant and then slip over to the Cardinals and see the other show. The Big Show. The management of Sportsman's Park advertise a bill a luxe for today. In addition to a half-dozen of the famous "Pitbull" King, who will make his first appearance on Missouri soil since he was captured by the circus, there will be a performance of the "Pitbull" King, who will make his first appearance on Missouri soil since he was captured by the circus. As a counter attraction, Mr. Ball will put on Fiedler Jones and Philman in a decision over Jones, on points, but most assuredly his own and the ring. Jones is favorite in the betting. The Cards having stuffed themselves with Boston Beans, will go over to Philadelphia today and will be scrapping by way of change of diet. The Cards have signed an infidel from the "Pitbull" King, who will make his first appearance on Missouri soil since he was captured by the circus. A Sheriff, the Rabbit has a pretty strong force.

Cards, 11-2 Games Out of First Place, Will Oppose Mighty Alexander Today

Battle for Second Place Between Hug's Men and Phillies Will Be Entrusted to Dan Griner, Who Held Quakes to Two Safe Hits, Last Time.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.
SHOWING almost an abnormal chest expansion as the result of their twin victory yesterday over the Braves, a conquest that moved them to within one and one-half games of first place, the Cardinals swept down on Philadelphia today and threatened to annihilate the Phils, who are slipping. Two defeats yesterday at the hands of the superannuated Pirates pulled the locals back to a position dangerously near the Cards. Indeed, while the Phils are only one game out of first place, they also are only one game out of fourth place, showing that almost anything can happen this afternoon. To prevent another catastrophe, Manager Moran intends to hurl Grover Cleveland Alexander, now recognized as the peer of all pitchers, into the firing pit. Alexander has won eight straight games, including a batch of three one-hit battles. However, today is the 13th day of July and bad luck may be camping on Alex's trail. Huggins intends to chance Griner, who in his last outing against the locals at Broad and Huntington, held them to two stringy hits and a run. The Cardinals have won only three and lost five to the Phils and Griner has done his share for the Westchester pennant-pretenders. Doak won the other two games. In yesterday's collision at Boston, the protégés of Huggins showed more fight than at any previous time this season. Jack Miller's timely single in the final frame of the initial battle scored Huggins, who had walked, and Becher, who got a life on Gowdy's wild throw, to second while Miller made a run and a home run. Moran's double, followed by Butler's two-bagger, produced the Braves' only marker in the sixth. Sal at His Best. "Bill" S'MATTER POP?

In Which Bill Tries to Help Along a Little Summer Flirtation of Ethel's and the Boss Spoils It All.

By PAUL WEST.

HONEST, the rignarole Ethel has 'er go through wid every year fer to go off on her vacation, annybody'd t'ink she was goin' ter make a trip 'round th' world, stoppin' off at th' Pennsylvania Exposition, an' Yurup on th' way. Headin' all th' summer resort looks they are, an' all th' ads, an' chinin' 'bout it wid ivery udder stenog in th' buildin', an' buyin' dresses an' fishin' last year's hats over, an'— Gee! it's here!

"Yes worse than ever this year," I says to her th' day before she's slippin' out. "I bet that poor mutt of husband is near crazy wid youse an' all yer talkin' an' chewin' th' rag, be this time. I betcher." I says, "all he's done fer to git ready is tie a couple of collars 'round his waist an' git his old straw hat cleaned be th' glazy down to th' corner. Prob'ly, I says, 'y' been so busy wid riggin' yer own self up y' ain't even darned his udder socks!"

"Put in a fresh needle," she says, "yes needin' sounds muffed. An' why would Ed be bodderin' about my vacation?" she says. "I hope y' don't t'ink he's goin' wid me." "No!" I says. "I should hope not," she says. "But niver mind me bodderin' or me domestic affairs," she says, "they beln' none o' yer business. Y' got enough to do tryin' to be perlitte t' th' young lady I'm puttin' in me place whilst I'm away. An' now," she says, "on off."

"So long, old scout!" I says whin she comes out th' Boss's office after drawin' in her money in advance. "Give my regards to all th' swells down to the seashore, an' tell 'em I may be along later!"

Th' new stenog fer to take her place shows up in th' mornin', an' she wasen' so bad, her an' me gettin' on fine, an' th' Boss sayin' she's all right, so everyting rolled along like an egg goin' downhill. Only I felt kinder sorry fer poor Ed, Ethel's husband. Th' simp sits in wan day fer to ast have I heard from his wife since she's been away. "How'd I be hearin' from her?" I says. "I ain't her husband!" "Well," he says, kinder sad-like, "I am, but I ain't had only wan postal card from her, an' all that says is: 'Be sure to feed th' canary.' I hate fer to say it Bill, but he says, 'but sometimes I, got a hunch Ethel's gittin' tired o' me.' 'Whaffert?' I says. 'I dunno,' he says, 'but lately she's been settin' that independent I feel like beatin' her up if I was th' size.' 'Mebbe,' I says, 'tis because y' ain't got no job. I know,' I says, whin me old man's on strike or anyt'ing, an' th' washin's comin' good fer me mudder, she leaves him know who's boss!" "It wouldn't be that wid us," he says, "because I got a good job, a right, if th' war would only be over!"

"Well," I says, "y' know yer own business."

"I sure do," he says, "but I'm gettin' kinder leery about me wife, an' if she don't write me more, I'm goin' ter sue her fer nonsupport or sumpin'."

KIN y' beat that fer nerve? "Sue her fer nonsupport?" I says, whin me old man's on strike or anyt'ing, an' th' washin's comin' good fer me mudder, she leaves him know who's boss!" "It wouldn't be that wid us," he says, "because I got a good job, a right, if th' war would only be over!"

"Well," I says, "y' know yer own business."

"I sure do," he says, "but I'm gettin' kinder leery about me wife, an' if she don't write me more, I'm goin' ter sue her fer nonsupport or sumpin'."

Better Scat, Cat, While the Scatting's Good!

WHITE FOX WILL BE WORKING THE SUMMER.

FURS

"White fox is goin' to be all the rage this summer, Mag."

"Yes, an' there's that big cat that et our canary still runnin' around."

him comin' in fer to see me an' weepin' down me neck fer not gettin' no letters often her. An' she goes up in th' air. "Th' 'cray simp!" she says. "Th' 'ongrateful, loafin'!" Th' "G's, all right," I says, "but don't waste 'em on me. Feelin' like y' do toward him, save thim kind remarks till youse git home. Not that I blame youse, old scout," I says, "him not runnin' fer me ever, but if yer goin' ter chuck him, do it easy."

"I'll chuck him, a right," she says, "not beln' th' little lady what couldn't!" "Sure youse could," I says, jollyin' her, but wonderin' what's got her so hot up all of a sudden, because sin'rally whin anybody else starts fer to take a fall outen Ed she'd come back an' stand up fer him. Thim I see her kinder lookin' leery-like over toward th' Boss's room, an' th' next minnit she's over by me desk, an' I kin tell they's a heart-to-heart talk comin'.

"Lissen, Bill," she says, "are youse a friend o' mine?" "Sure," I says, "up to a certain amount." "Shoooh!" she says. "It ain't that, but lissen! Whilst I was away on me vacation," she says, "I happened fer to meet a very fine gemmun, a she says, 'a reel society gemmun, I mean, not no ribbon rustler or shoe clerk or nuttin', but th' reel long-tong'!" she says.

"Yeah? I says, "Yer story int'rests me. Perced?"

"ELL," she says, "I dunno how 'twas, but—well, annyhow, whin I registered at th' hotel, just fer fun or because I happened to be abaint-minded or sumpin, I didn't put down Missus Fink, but Miss Jackson, an'—well, mebbe 'twas that made him t'ink I wasen' married, an'—well, youse knows how 'tis, so—so!" "Aw, that's a right, old dear," I says, rememberin' me own little sag up into th' mountains whin me an' Izzy Kate made th' skirts all t'ink we was a couple o' millionaires. "They's no harm done. An' whin th' Johnny elows in here y' don't want me to give it away!" "Well," she says, "that's sumpin' like it, only—well, I dunno where he got th' idee, but somehow or udder he got it in his bean I wasen' a stenog, or no workin' gal at all, but—well, whin he says 'twas plain I was a reel society person like himself I kinder left him t'ink so." "Thim where's th' harm?" I says, "as long as he don't know yer address!" "Yeah, but he do," she says. "They happened fer to be an old gemmun wid a fancy ribbon, an' assay close, an' thim white socks wid low-cut shoes, an' all. "Are thim Mister Hadley's office?" he says. "Back up," I says, pointin' at th' Boss's name on th' door right side o' him. "Can't youse read? Dis is th' acme Tripe and Sauerkraut Factory." That got a laff outen him a right, an' th' next t'ing he slips a half a dollar in me mitt.

"I see yer a right, me lad," he says, "an' wise to yer game. An' now lissen," he says. "Dis are confidential, an' be chune us. Are youse acquainted wid a young lady—be th' name o' Miss Ethel Jackson?" he says.

"Well," he says, "I'm a friend o' hers," he says. "Thim, I says, "she's in wid th' Boss at this very minnit." "Ah," he says, kinder to himself, "thim 'tis true. It's connected wid her estate, ain't it?" "It sure are," I says. "Her estate," th' gink goes on, "are a very large wan, ain't it?" "It sure are, reely," I says. "Diden't youse never hear o' th' rich Miss Jackson, on th' level?" I says. "Her fadder made about twinty million sellin' fish," I says. "Fish?" he says. "Sure," I says. "Old Man Jackson, th' fish king, he was," I says. "But she ain't kep' up th' business, sellin' out an' investin' th' coin in autumobiles an' t'ings! An' she's got so much she don't know what to do wid it," I says. "Manny's th' time she comes in here an' slips me a couple o' hundred, an'!"

BUT he ain't lookin' at me—over me shoulder, that's where he's cockin' in his lamps now, an' th' reason is Ethel herself, who's just breezin' outen th' Boss's room. She seen him, too, an' let out a little yip, hidin' her dictation book behind her as she comes toward him.

Th' next minnit they're grabbin' each udder's hands, up high—y' know th' regular society gag—an' chinnin' like 'twould make youse faint!

"Aw, howdydo! So glad! Just dropped in to see me lawyer!" An' all that! An' thim she sneaks over to me, an' gives it to me quiet.

"Fer heavin's sake, slip me me hat, so's I kin sneak out wid him an' lose him on th' street, or I'll faint wid suspense!"

I'm just about fer to do it, whin all th' gavy's spilled, an' who does it but th' Boss. He comes buttin' outen his
